DELIGHT IN DISORDER.

BY ROBERT HERRICK.

It is in such poems as the following one that Herrick is at his best; his religious, or, as he called them, his "noble numbers," being for the most part inferior. But in his lyrics, as Austin Dobson says, his "numbers are of gold."

A sweet disorder in the dress
Kindles in clothes a wantonness;
A lawn about the shoulders thrown,
Into a fine distraction;
An erring lace, which here and there
Enthralls the crimson stomacher;
A cuff neglectful, and thereby
Ribbands to flow confusedly;
A winning wave, deserving note,
In the tempestuous petticoat;
A careless shoestring, in whose tie
I see a wild civility;
Doth more bewitch me than when art
Is too precise in every part.

WAR IMMINENT; FLEET OFF COAST

Ships of King of Aurania Are Expected to Attack the American Shore Batteries Sunday.

ARMY TO REPEL ASSAULT.

Balloon, Wireless Telegraph, and Signal Corps to Be Used in Getting News of Enemy's Movements.

New London, Conn., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—It is reported upon excellent authority that war will be declared against the United States tomorrow night. A thunderbolt from a cloudless sky would seem more likely when the amicable relations between this republic and Aurania are considered. The latest reports as to the whereabouts of the ships of the king of Aurania are that they left Fayal about two weeks ago, destination unknown. They have not been sighted by any one of the ocean liners and it is generally supposed they sailed for the West Indies.

Gen. Arthur MacArthur, commanding the department of the east, confirms the report that the government expects a declaration of war from Aurania not later than midnight tomorrow. Fortunately, he has just been inspecting the coast defense system and the men have recently had target practice with the big guns. Today he witnessed target practice at Fort Terry.

Army Chiefs in Conference.

A combination of circumstances also brought together in this vicinity Gen. Wallace Randolph, chief of artillery; Gen. Willis C. Crozier, chief of ordnance; Gen. Gillespie, chief of engineers; and Gen. A. W. Greely, chief signal officer. Acting Secretary Sanger has directed these officers at once to prepare the defense works of New London and Newport.

There have been several conferences, and the general opinion is that should a hostile fleet assail the New England coast it will be in the vicinity of New London. Gen. MacArthur has had the Kanawha placed at his disposal, and fearing that the unforeseen may happen and the enemy appear when least expected he has decided to have his headquarters at Old Fort Trumbull, the central point of Gen. Greely's marvelous system of communication.

Signal Service Well Equipped.

From Fort Trumbull a telegraph line runs direct to Fort Michie and from there to Fort Terry on Plum island and thence to Gardiner's point.

Capt. Edgar Russell of Gen. Greely's staff announced today that the commercial line from Fisher's island to Fort Trumbull will be used by the government, thus giving direct connection with Fort Wright. From there a line runs to Fort Mansfield, enabling communication with Fort Trumbull.

Gen. MacArthur will await the news at Fort Trumbull. The Kanawha will be under full head of steam to enable him to reach Fisher's island within a short time after the first discovery of the enemy. Considerable credit is due Gen. Greely for his rapid installation of a signal system unsurpassed in extent.

Attack Is Expected Sunday.

Theoretically the fleet may appear any time after Sunday, and the army will have had two days to prepare the defense works to meet war conditions. But there has been much preparation for some time. A report on the signal system work made public tonight by direction of Gen. MacArthur says:

"Day signals are sent by smoke, while rockets, acetylene lanterns, and flashing searchlights are used at night. Night practice began in Narragansett district Tuesday night, when all rockets and bombs were read with accuracy at all occupied points. Twenty-one visual signal stations have been selected, being so distributed that they may communicate in the speediest and most reliable manner."

Lieut. Col. Samuel Reber, military secretary to Gen. Miles, is acting during the maneuvers as captain of the signal corps, and has entire charge of the aero nautical work of the campaign. Gen. Greely is unwilling to give as yet any information as to the balloon train or its proposed field of operations.

Batteries Are Made Ready.

The most extensive and important schemes of communication are along electrical lines. Three distinct and independent systems of intercommunication have been installed. In each artillery post the fire control officer, who is a field officer of artillery, is connected by underground and fully armored and protected cables, not only with battery commanders but also with each emplacement, searchlight, and rapid fire battery, so that every gun is under his absolute control. He communicates either verbally by telephone or in writing by a signal corps telautograph, the latter being the Gray telautograph modified for fire control purposes.

Wireless Messages Play a Part.

In addition to these facilities there will be in use eight sets of wireless instruments, covering four separate systems, the De Forrest, the Fessenden, the Marconi, and the Standard signal corps.

Unless they can pass by the forts and get out of range before the guns can concentrate their fire upon them the attack will be repulsed. Tonight the army is confident that such will be the result of the joint maneuvers.

War Balloon Is Discovered.

At Point Judith Lieut. Col. Reber is occupied with the war balloon. It was intended to keep the location of the war balloon a secret, but the spies of the enemy were vigilant, and it is now known it is located at Point Judith. Gen. Greely, fearing that marines may be landed from the fleet and capture the balloon and men, has asked for a detachment of soldiers.

To reach New London the fleet must pass between Gull island and Fort Wright on Fisher's island. In doing this the ships will be for a time within the range of the guns of either fort.

Attacking Fleet Is Prepared.

On board battleship Alabama, off Menensha light, Martha's Vineyard, Mass., Aug. 28—Rear Admiral Francis T. Higginson's fleet of warships is anchored here today making final preparations for the second series of war maneuvers. This fleet, which comprises what will be known as the attacking squadron, is made up of the Kearsarge (flagship), Alabama, Massachusetts (all battleships), the cruiser Brooklyn (flagship of Rear Admiral Coghlan), the cruiser Olympia, the converted yacht Gloucester, the gunboat Scorpion, and the tugs Peoria, Leyden, and Vina. The period of preparation among the fleet begins at midnight tomorrow night.

SAY TEACHERS ARE UNFIT

TRUSTEES DEMAND A WEEDING OUT AMONG EMPLOYES.

They Declare That Over 20 Per Cent of the Force in Chicago Public Schools Is Incompetent — Criticise Themselves for Overriding Recommendations for Discharge — Supt. Cooley to Dismiss Principals Who Fail to Make Accurate Reports.

That 20 per cent of the teachers in the Chicago public schools are incompetent and should be dismissed was the open declaration by three members of the Board of Education yesterday.

Criticism was not confined to teachers alone, but district superintendents were charged with lack of courage in making out a list of incompetents and recommending their discharge; and the trustees themselves were blamed for permitting outside influences to induce them to vote for the retention of teachers whose days of usefulness had passed.

As the result of this discussion by the committee on school management, it was predicted there would be more teachers discharged next year than ever before. Supt. Cooley promising to demand accurate reports from his subordinates, under penalty of dismissal.

Calls 20 Per Cent Incompetent.

"You would be compelled to discharge more than 20 per cent of the teaching force to rid the schools of all of the incompetents," said Trustee Daniel R. Cameron. "The district superintendents have not done their duty. They must be fair and just and have the backbone of the superintendents to do what they think is right. I favor the discharge of principals who are not doing their duty, and urge the immediate dismissal of district superintendents who are not of assistance in getting rid of the incompetent teachers in the schools."

Trustee Thomas Brenan denied that Trustee Cameron had made a correct estimate, but the prevailing opinion among those at the meeting seemed to indorse the sentiments expressed by Mr. Cameron.

Thinks Marking System at Fault.

Trustee John T. Keating said the system of marking was not just, and intimated that the district superintendents did not rely on their own judgment regarding the fitness of a teacher.

"The district superintendent follows too much the markings of his predecessor," said Mr. Keating, "and seemingly does not personally investigate, or if he does gives no evidence of his personal investigation in his markings."

Must Back Up Superintendent.

President Clayton Mark declared himself in favor of weeding out the incompetent teachers.

"We constantly find incompetent employés in private business, and we do not hesitate to discharge them," said Mr. Mark, "and if we would secure for the public what it has paid for, teachers who have not been able to do their work must leave the employment of the board. We should concur in the recommendation of the superintendent to discharge incompetent employés. We must stand by him when he attempts to shove out a teacher of little or no service in the schools."

"The members of the board are responsible for much of the incompetency among the teachers," replied Trustee Cameron. "If a teacher is recommended for dismissal it is a rule you will find some member of the board urging the retention of that teacher. Let us quit it."

Hold Principals Responsible.

Supt. Cooley told the committee he would bring any principal to account who is detected in making untrue reports concerning the ability of any teacher.

President Mark also favors increasing the time a teacher shall serve before she is allowed a pension. He declared he favored a revision of the law, so that a teacher shall only be given a pension after she is unable to gain a livelihood at her profession.

Charges Against a Principal.

Sixty residents of the Chicago Lawn school district were present at the meeting to protest against the retention of Henry D. Hatch as principal of the school. The delegation was headed by Ald. W. M. Butterworth, who acted as spokesman.

"Prof. Hatch has lost his influence, and is not respected in the community," said the alderman. "When little girls talk about things which make older people blush, it is time that something be done."

The committee will appoint a subcommittee of three to hear the charges which the citizens have to make against the principal.

POLICE RAID GAMING HOUSE AND TAKE FIFTY PRISONERS.

Frank Brothers' Place in West Madison Street Visited, Inmates Arrested, and the Furniture Destroyed.

Frank Brothers' gambling house in the rear of their saloon at Madison and Halsted streets was raided at 10 o'clock last night by detectives from Chief O'Neill's office and the central station. Only when all the inmates had been arrested and the patrol wagons of the Desplaines, Lake, and Maxwell street stations called for did the police at those stations know of the raid.

Keeper Carter and fifty inmates were taken to the Harrison street station, after which the detectives demolished the furniture of the resort. The raid attracted a crowd of hundreds of persons, and the prisoners were jeered as they were marched to the wagons.

The raid was made under the direction of Detectives Herts, Nelson, Howe, and McQuade. Detective Herts declared that no reason save the wide open condition of the game caused his men to visit the west side, but would give no reason why the assistance of the Desplaines street police was not sought.

CAR MEN DECIDE ON ARBITRATION.

Meeting of North and West Side Employes Unanimously Abandons the Idea of a Strike.

MAHON'S LETTER WINS.

Executive Committee Is Empowered to Draw Up List of the Employes' Grievances Today.

By a unanimous vote the members of the street car men's union of the north and west sides last evening decided to submit to arbitration their differences with the Union and Consolidated Traction companies.

Clarence Darrow was named as arbitrator for the union. The conduct of the entire matter was left in the hands of the executive committee, which will meet this morning to draw up the schedule of grievances to be submitted to the board of arbitration.

President John M. Roach of the street car lines will be notified officially of the action of the men some time today. He will then select an arbitrator for the company, and the two will name the third member. The time and place for the meeting of the board then will be arranged.

Strike Talk Dies Out.

The action of the union in taking up arbitration puts a quietus on all strike talk on the north and west sides, at least for the present. The open letter which National President W. D. Mahon addressed to the union Wednesday evening evidently had the desired effect in heading off the intentions of the radical element, which had declared in favor of a strike at once.

It was known that two propositions had been brought before the union's executive board at its session yesterday. One provided that a schedule of the men's demands be drawn up at once and presented as an ultimatum to the traction lines, to be answered at once. A strike was to follow a refusal of the terms. The other was the arbitration plan. During the day the members of the executive board of the Chicago Federation of Labor visited the committee and counseled the members to arbitrate.

Warned by President Larkin.

When the meeting of the union was called to order at Aurora Turner hall Local President Larkin made an address, in which he said that the only course to be pursued was to abide by the rules of the Amalgamated Association of Street Car Employés and submit their troubles to arbitration. He warned the men that if they voted to call a strike they would find themselves without the support of their own national organization and likewise the Chicago Federation of Labor, representing union labor in Chicago.

Walter Carmody, John Daly, and W. F. Mellcan, members of the executive board of the federation, expressed the same sentiments and urged the street car men to stand by their national organization.

Roach's Proposal Ignored.

After adopting the plan of arbitration it was voted that no part of the proposal submitted by President Roach should be embodied in the statement of the union for the arbitration board. There seems to be a division of sentiment among the men as to how much advance in wages they should demand. The original demands called for a horizontal raise of 7 cents an hour. It is not believed that there is any possibility that this will be granted, and the executive committee will probably be guided by the results of the south side union's efforts in this direction.

That the traction companies will at once agree to arbitration is not doubted. This was a feature of the original agreement, made by the companies and the men, and it is thought that the board will be ready to do business some time next week.

It is said that the companies were in good condition to fight a strike. The statement is made that President Roach would be able to bring 4,000 experienced street car men to Chicago at a day's notice should he need them, the men having been recruited from other cities some time ago.

Mahon Not Invited.

National President Mahon and Organizer Pratt were not at last night's meeting. Mr. Mahon's letter, while it served to point out to the would-be strikers the error of their plan, stirred up their resentment, which found expression in their speeches. Early in the evening Mr. Mahon declared he would not go to the hall unless sent for.

"I have no official notice of this meeting," he said, "and of course I shall not attend. I told the officers of division 241 on Tuesday morning where they could find me, and if they need my assistance I shall be pleased to meet with them at any time or place. The regular meeting of the union does not take place for a week."

During the day local President Larkin denied that he had asked Mr. Mahon to sanction a strike, but admitted that some member of the executive committee might have asked the question. Mr. Mahon affirmed the assertion in his letter, however.

The south side arbitration board took up its work again yesterday, and the union officials presented their side of the controversy over the barn and shop employés. The board will convene again on Tuesday, and it is believed that it will be able to finish its work and make a report in a few hours.

YOUNG ROUGHS OF EVANSTON RAID EPWORTH LEAGUE FETE.

Second Affray Within a Week May Lead to Arrest of Sons of Well to Do Business Men.

South Evanston is protesting against a so-called "gang" of young men who last night made their second raid within a week on a lawn party. Several arrests are promised today. The Epworth league was giving a fête on the grounds of William R. Mumford's residence at 9 o'clock, when the crowd appeared. Before they could be prevented the young roughs had cut down the rows of magic lanterns, setting them on fire.

The young men attending the party rallied then and repulsed the gang, who withdrew throwing stones. The police were then summoned and the disturbers driven off. Several patrolmen, however, kept guard the rest of the evening.

The first disturbance occurred last Tuesday evening, when the same crowd interrupted a party given by Mrs. R. M. Lawrence of 510 Kedzie street, because it is said they desired revenge on a guest, whom they asserted had insulted a young woman.

GARVIN WILD WITH A GUN

PITCHER ATTACKS POLICEMAN; SHOOTS SALOON MAN.

Baseball Player Who Is Known as the "Navasota Tarantula" Sustains His Reputation as a Dangerous Character by Resenting an Attempt to Prevent Him from "Painting" the West Side — Flees on a Street Car and Evades Capture.

Virgil Garvin, pitcher for Comiskey's White Stockings, dental student, and—when he is drinking—a member of one of the first families of Texas, as he puts it himself, retired temporarily from baseball last evening. He literally shot himself out.

Garvin, who is known as the "Navasota tarantula," started out to paint the west side. A policeman objected, and Garvin, with a whoop that he learned in the wild southwest, felled the agent of the law and then began shooting at him. The policeman escaped serious injury, but the proprietor of the saloon in which the trouble occurred sustained a bullet wound.

The ball player fled, and up to a late hour had not been captured. After the police took up the chase they recalled that two years ago the "tarantula" had emptied his pistol at a negro in Milwaukee merely to support his Texas traditions. A year ago, in Chicago, he showed his versatility by cutting a man named Daly during a saloon argument.

Shoots at Prostrate Victim.

Last evening's shooting took place in the saloon of Lawrence E. Flanigan, at Honoré street and Ogden avenue, and the proprietor was shot in the left shoulder.

Only a determined fight by the wounded man saved the life of Policeman Dennis Fitzgerald, who is a pensioner of the department, having been wounded in the Haymarket riot. The policeman was called to the saloon shortly after 6 p. m. by a man who had fled from the place, terrified by the actions of Garvin. Entering he saw the ball player flourishing a revolver. Fitzgerald attempted to pacify the pitcher, but he was felled by a blow from the weapon.

Almost a Murder.

As he attempted to struggle to his feet two shots were fired at him by Garvin. Both bullets passed close to his head, being imbedded in the floor. The saloonkeeper then ran from behind the bar and grasped at the revolver. The weapon was turned on him and Garvin fired.

Garvin Flees on Street Car.

Flanigan fell to the floor and Garvin rushed from the place and boarded a passing street car. The patrol wagon of the Lake street station was called and both Flanigan and Fitzgerald were taken to the County hospital. The policeman was badly shaken up in the struggle with Garvin. Flanigan's wound is not considered serious.

Garvin, who entered Flanigan's saloon an hour before the shooting, evidently already had been drinking freely. After several drinks were purchased he asked a loan from the saloonkeeper. It was refused, and the ball player, drawing a revolver, announced his intention of securing the money.

Several patrons of the place fled at sight of the weapon, and one of these notified Policeman Fitzgerald, who was passing by.

Escapade May Lose a Pennant.

Aside from the police features of the case, Garvin's latest escapade may cost Comiskey's team this year's pennant. The White Stockings, already in a perilous position in the race, are in a bad way for pitchers, and Garvin had been depended on to aid in making the uphill fight that is to close the baseball season. The last game the team played in the east before its recent return home was pitched by Garvin, and he held the Baltimore players to a shutout after they had batted the other pitchers hard in the two preceding games.

Garvin, because of his height and frail figure, has been a unique character in professional baseball for six years. Among the teams on which he has played have been the Chicago and Philadelphia National league clubs, the Milwaukee club, and finally with Comiskey's White Stockings.

Begins Study of Denistry.

For several years his health has not been good, and some time ago he began studying dentistry, knowing that he could not long stand the strain of baseball.

Garvin always has been considered "handy with a gun." When he shot at the negro in Milwaukee his excuse was that the boy had not shined his shoes to suit him, and that "Texans didn't like niggers, anyhow."

This affair, as well as the cutting of Daly in Chicago, was compromised, and Garvin was not brought to trial. Garvin lives in Navasota, Tex.

NEW EVIDENCE OF MERGER OF SOUTHERN RAILWAYS.

Circular to Stockholders of One Line Tells of Important Negotiations Now Under Way—Four Roads Involved.

New York, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—J. Pierpont Morgan, Charles Lanier, and George F. Baker, the voting trustees of the Southern Railway company, today sent stockholders a circular advising an extension of the voting trust for another five years.

A significant argument is the declaration that "there are pending negotiations for the further development and strengthening" of the company and other negotiations "in relation to transportation interests in the southern states which have an important bearing upon the interests of the Southern Railway company."

This statement was taken to be a confession of the reports that have been in circulation concerning a southern merger. It has been the talk that the L. and N., the Southern, the Seaboard, and the Atlantic Coast line were to be brought under one control.

SHAM BATTLE PLANS VETOED.

Lincoln Park Commissioners Say the Naval Militiamen Cannot "Fight" on Sunday.

The Lincoln park sham battle, scheduled for next Sunday, between the training ship Dorothea on one side and a land force of naval militiamen on the other probably will go unfought. The park commissioners awoke yesterday to the fact that a noisy demonstration was being planned, and they promptly vetoed any sham encounter that would disturb the Sunday quiet.

Francis T. Simmons, member of the board, last evening said:

"Several days ago I met Capt. Fabyan, who spoke to me of having the naval militia make a rush landing on the sea wall. I told him that so far as I was concerned there would be no objection. I did not, however, entertain the idea of a sham battle or of firing, 'heavy' or light, in Lincoln park on Sunday. Such a demonstration would disturb the park patrons and persons who live in the vicinity of the park."

NOTE FORGERIES BASIS OF INQUIRY

Grand Jury Will Hear Stories of Big Business Firms Which Place Blame on Wheeler.

DENY ATTEMPT TO "FIX."

Merchants and Others Throw New Light on Scandal Growing from Temple Disclosures.

Six business men of Chicago told State's Attorney Deneen yesterday that Luke Wheeler had forged their names to notes made payable to himself in amounts ranging from $1,000 to $6,000.

These same men will be called before the Cook county grand jury to tell about the alleged forgeries so that Wheeler may be indicted on that particular charge among others.

Firms and the Amounts.

The business firms whose representatives charge Wheeler with forgery, with the amounts of the notes, are:

A. Booth & Co.	$5,500
Walker & Ehrman company	3,200
Woselick Restaurant company	1,000
F. Bublitz	2,100
Sweet, Dempster & Co.	2,500
N. B. Holden	1,000

Should developments within the next twenty-four hours warrant it a special grand jury may be convened next week, that the hearing of the forgery and other charges may not be delayed until the next regular body meets Sept. 15.

Wheeler's Hand in Temple Affair.

The specific charges brought by the foregoing firms against Wheeler was not the only development of the day. What is the first definite information tending to trace the authorship of the tax receipt which is involved in the Masonic temple case was received when a Dearborn street broker identified the handwriting as Wheeler's.

Chief Clerk Becker of the county treasurer's office devoted much of the day to studying the photograph of the receipt. The Dearborn street broker who knows Wheeler and has handled several documents bearing his handwriting told Mr. Becker:

"The figures on that receipt were made by Luke Wheeler. I am sure of that."

Chief Clerk Becker at once compared the receipt with entries made by Wheeler when he was employed as a clerk in the treasurer's office. A striking similarity was shown.

Deny Attempt to "Fix" Taxes.

The greater part of the day was given by the state's attorney to the prominent business men who told of the forgeries of their names, each and all vigorously denying that the notes were given to Wheeler in payment for his alleged promise to "fix" things with the state board of equalization and have their capital stock wiped off the tax lists. Much light was shed on Wheeler's methods. That he has been in the tax fixing business for years was held to be proved.

Some of the discredited notes were held by a firm of private bankers who have offices in the Woman's temple. Two were put up by Wheeler with John D. Rowe, 115 Dearborn street, as collateral for loans.

One of the notes, purporting to have been given by A. Booth & Co., for $5,500, bore the name of J. J. McComb, member of the state board of equalization, and was indorsed by him. Detectives were seeking McComb last night, but it was reported that he was out of the city.

Fraud, Says Vernon Booth.

W. Vernon Booth indignantly declared this note was a forgery.

"It's a fraud on its face," said he. "Some time ago a greasy slip of paper, purporting to be a valid note, was submitted to me. I saw at once that it was a blundering forgery. It was dirty and looked as if it had been made in a coalbin. Under the company name was written 'Vernon Booth, secretary.' I have never been secretary of the company. The note was never collected on, and I allowed the matter to drop."

"The note that we saw," said the broker with whom this paper was put up and whose name is not made public, "was not greasy. It was crisp and new and had a genuine appearance."

The capital stock of A. Booth & Co. is $5,500,000, and the tax books show that no assessment was levied on the stock by the state board. The firm is assessed $175,000 on its personal property, the taxes amounting to $2,010 this year.

Although Mr. Booth hitherto has not prosecuted the forger, he will now be called on to join with the state's prosecutors in meting out justice to the alleged criminal.

Confronts Wheeler; Charges Forgery.

President George L. Walker of the Walker & Ehrman Manufacturing company, 129 West Washington street, threw light on Wheeler and his methods. Last spring, he asserted, a broker in the Woman's Temple presented a note for $3,200 purporting to have been signed by the firm in favor of Wheeler. The latter had hypothecated the paper with the broker and the broker had become suspicious.

"I saw at once that the note was a forgery," said Mr. Walker. "I showed that we had no notes outstanding and that the paper never had been issued by our firm. The broker asked me to go to his office, as Wheeler had an engagement to call. I went and remained in an inner room. Wheeler came and was questioned about the note, saying he had received it from us. I then stepped out and confronted him, denouncing the note as a forgery.

"I told Wheeler then that if he didn't destroy the paper I would take him by the neck and march him to the nearest police station. He destroyed the paper, and I did not prosecute because I did not know whether I had a case, as no money had been collected on the false paper.

"I met Wheeler a few years ago. He frequently visited a restaurant where I was accustomed to go. He asked me one day if we didn't want our taxes reduced. I told him that, of course, we didn't care to pay more than we had to. He said he could have them cut, as he had some influential friends in the west town offices. I refused to consider his proposition, however, because I believed that he had crooked work in mind."

Attorney Owen Admits Meeting.

When Mr. Walker had told his story, Attorney Malcolm Dale Owen, who was a close friend of Wheeler, was summoned and again vigorously questioned. Mr. Walker identified Owen as the man who had been with Wheeler in the temple offices when Wheeler is said to have destroyed the forged note.

"I did not believe the note was forged and do not believe so now," Mr. Owen declared in the course of his answers. "I believe the note was genuine."

Why, if this were true, he has allowed his client to tear up the paper, was not answered so satisfactorily.

"When Mr. Walker threatened to have Wheeler arrested," said he, "I advised him to tear up the paper and avoid trouble."

Mr. Walker was informed that another note for $1,000, bearing the firm's name, had been sold to a broker recently by Wheeler.

"If there is such a note in existence," he declared, "it is a forgery, for I never signed such a paper and never heard of it."

The Walker & Ehrman company had capital stock to the total of $20,000 until about a year ago, when this was increased to $100,000. The tax books show that no assessment has been spread on this capital stock by the state board.

Others Repudiate the Notes.

Ralph Womlick repudiated the note for $1,000 drawn against him. He insisted he had never given any such paper to any one.

Mr. Holden had previously told his story to the state's attorney. His house is capitalized for $200,000, and the tax books show no assessment levied on the capital stock by the state board.

"When I wrote my name and compared it with the signature on the note," said Mr. Holden, "the forgery was apparent at once. It was then that Broker John D. Rowe had Wheeler arrested, as I have since learned. At that time, as the note had not been passed, I paid little attention to the matter."

All these men were closely questioned as to why they had not prosecuted Wheeler for his alleged acts. Various excuses were made, the principal one being that as no one had lost money by the alleged forgeries there was no need of prosecution.

Rowe Tells of Dealings.

Broker Rowe was also called to the state's attorney's office. He admitted that he had accepted two notes from Wheeler as collateral for loans.

"When the Holden note was declared bad," said he, "and I had Wheeler arrested he put up $400 at once, thus paying back the sum he had borrowed from me on the paper. It was for that reason that I did not prosecute the case to the end, no one having lost any money."

Rowe was asked about his alleged assistance to Wheeler by finding him clients. He denied this, declaring that he knew nothing whatever about any tax fixing clique, but that his business dealings with Wheeler were merely that of a broker and client.

"Of the two notes that I accepted," he said in part, "one was signed by Mr. Holden. The other bore the name of W. Hill & Co., wholesale jewelers, and was in the sum of $2,000. Those are the only notes ever presented to me by Wheeler," and Mr. Rowe produced his office records in support of this statement.

Temple Taxes Paid by Check.

Investigation by THE TRIBUNE yesterday showed that the Masonic temple taxes have always hitherto been paid by check. It was not the practice to pay in currency, as Capt. Williams insists he did on April 18 last. For the most part the checks in former years were drawn on the Bankers' National bank, the records showing payments of taxes on the big building as follows:

1895—Paid April 29 by check, drawn by the Masonic Fraternity Temple association on the Bankers' National bank for $24,200.09.

1896—Paid May 1 by check, drawn by "Masonic Temple association" on the Bankers' National bank for $20,033.45.

1896—Paid April 30 by check, drawn by the Masonic Fraternity Temple association on the Bankers' National bank for $24,742.53.

1897—Paid April 30 by check, drawn in the same way, for $25,402.56.

1898—Paid April 30 by check, drawn by the Masonic Fraternity Temple association on the Bankers' National bank for $7,442.51, and by check drawn by B. E. Sliden on the Illinois Trust and Savings bank for $20,000.

1899—Paid May 1 by check on Bankers' National bank for $24,058.96.

1900—A claim of overassessment was made, and the association made a tender in currency of all but $6,000 of the tax due.

1901—Paid April 30 by check for $30,921.70.

1902—Asserted by Capt. Williams that he carried $26,770.17 in currency to the treasurer's office on April 18 and received the receipt which is now declared by the county officials to be a forgery.

Chancellor's Side of It.

Attorney Justus Chancellor, counsel for the association and also attorney for A. Booth & Co., explained that the tender was made in currency in 1900 because the treasurer declined to accept a check in part tender of the disputed tax. It was because the balance of the tax for that year was not paid that the property was purchased under tax sale by Henry L. Glos.

In explaining why payment was made in currency this year, as contended by Capt. Williams, Mr. Chancellor said:

"Receipts are held for five days by the county treasurer when payment of taxes is made by check. In the meantime another person may come along, tender currency, and secure a receipt for the taxes. It was to avoid such a possibility that I advised the payment of the tax this year in currency."

"But conditions were the same a year ago," was suggested, "and yet payment then was made by check. What of that?"

"I don't recall the payment of a year ago," said Mr. Chancellor. "I may not have been in the city when the tax was paid. Had I been consulted I suppose I should have advised payment in currency."

Tells of Offers to "Fix."

That the clique of tax fixers operated in the south town collector's office was shown during the day by the statement of James E. Dillan a former employé there.

"I was approached in the south town collector's office last February," he told State's Attorney Deneen, "by a man who asked me if I would like to make a little money. I said I would if it was legitimate, and I asked him what I would have to do. He said he would give me the name and description of a piece of property, and that I should mark the taxes paid in the collector's books.

"He said if I would do that in one case he would give me $500 the day I did it and $1,000 a few days later. I told him I would not have anything to do with any schemes of that kind. When I gave him that answer he walked away without a word.

"The fellow was a stranger to me. He was tall, slender, and wore a dark mustache, and seemed to know a great deal about tax matters."

Picture Wheeler as a Jekyll.

Over on the west side it is asserted that Luke Wheeler led a dual life. His money, it is said, he frittered away on the racetracks and in resorts. He married about three years ago, and his wife, who lives in the upper flat at 2024 West Monroe street, was always led to believe that he was away on business, never suspecting that his absence was due to champagne dinners in a downtown apartment, which he had fitted up luxuriously.

In his home neighborhood he was regarded as a worthy young man. Politics, it was understood, called him to Springfield frequently, and thus his absence was explained. It was as an attaché of the "Tim" Ryan régime that he got into politics in a small way.

The recent death of his father, it is asserted, was hastened by the trouble which resulted in the son's arrest by Rowe in the Holden note case.

"Wheeler is one of the nerviest fellows I ever saw," said one of his friends last night. "Time and again he has been on mighty thin ice and faced circumstances which would have shattered the nerve of the ordinary man. But he was always cool and collected and faced things through to the end, usually successfully, too."

Report of Another Note.

Report was made last night that still another note, held to have been signed by the Chicago Malleable iron works and in the sum of $4,000, had been traced. Clayton Mark, working director of the company, had heard nothing of the matter, however. The works in question belong to the National Malleable Casting company.

"Luke Wheeler must be caught and made to talk before this thing can be cleared up," said one of the investigators. "He alone can explain some of the mystery which hangs about these notes. The evidence now in hand covers a wide range, but much of it is fragmentary. Wheeler was the kingpin of the entire operations."

Spanish War Veterans Meet.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The first annual convention of the Spanish-American war veterans was held here today. It was decided to throw Wisconsin's delegation of nine votes in the national convention at Indianapolis to Col. D. Jack Foster of Chicago for commander-in-chief of the National association. Maj. J. A. Nemitz of Oshkosh was elected departmental commander.

NATION TO AVERT MONEY SHORTAGE

Secretary Shaw Invites Banks to Deposit Bonds and Issue More Currency.

SUM NEEDED FOR CROPS.

Heads of New York Institutions, Though Pressed for Cash, Doubt Profit in Plan.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw today took steps to insure the movement of the enormous crops soon to be harvested without causing any stringency in the money market.

The matter has been under consideration by the secretary for some time, and he has decided that the best way out of the difficulty is to induce the national banks to increase their circulation. Such a suggestion was made to the banks some time ago and it is understood they have responded in a satisfactory manner. The national banks can increase their circulation by $332,000,000 as they are capitalized at $700,000,000, and have issued notes amounting to but $368,000,000. The banks can issue notes to the full value of their capital if they deposit United States bonds in the treasury to cover the notes.

Large Increase Is Available.

Acting Secretary Ailes, by authority of Secretary Shaw, who is in New York, today made the following statement:

"The secretary recently invited some of the larger national banks in the principal cities to order additional amounts of circulating notes to be printed. National banks are entitled to issue circulation to the full amount of their capital. The secretary has hoped to introduce an element of elasticity into the present system. His suggestions to the various banks in the larger cities that they make preparation for additional circulation have met with favorable response.

"It is not his intention that they should issue this additional circulation all at once, but only in case of actual necessity and emergency. He does not propose to inflate the currency in any sense, but to be prepared to meet the actual currency demand should one arise. With this in view, those banks which have made arrangements to deposit United States bonds as security for such additional circulation have sent in their orders, and the secretary has had all branches of the treasury service busily engaged in expediting the preparation of the notes pending a possible emergency."

Much Smaller Sum Needed.

Or course, it will not be necessary to issue so much currency, and the secretary does not wish any more printed than is absolutely necessary. He simply wants the currency made elastic enough to meet the demands.

To prevent a money stringency during the crop movement, Secretary Shaw stands ready to coöperate with the banks and to do everything in his power. Shortly there will be heavy demands on the banks for currency, and at this season there is always fear of money being scarce. This important question has occupied the attention of the secretary of the treasury for some time, and the problem has practically been solved for this season.

If the banks do not increase their circulation enough to supply the demand the secretary can deposit some of the government receipts in the national banks to tide over the busy season.

Bankers Doubt Profit in Plan.

New York, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, had a conference today at the subtreasury with Deputy Assistant Treasurer Marlow and with Collector Stranahan at the custom house. Bond deposits and more money for circulation were discussed. Secretary Shaw also conferred with the presidents of a number of the banks regarding his circular issued in Washington today to facilitate the movement of crops without causing a monetary stringency.

Bankers who were asked about the possibility of borrowing $100,000,000 for such a purpose declared that it would be impossible to buy bonds anywhere near $100,000,000 at reasonable prices. Such a purchase would send up the prices to a point where it would not be profitable to issue circulation against them, especially for so short a period as six months, although smaller amounts could be borrowed. The possibility of such a plan on a reduced scale depended on the willingness of bondholders to loan their bonds at a low rate of interest.

Chicago Banks Not Affected.

James H. Eckels, president of the Commercial National bank and former controller of the currency, said last night of Secretary Shaw's plan:

"We have not been invited to take out new circulation, and the secretary has probably made arrangements with certain New York banks which have facilities for borrowing bonds from savings banks there and temporarily depositing them for new circulation. By having an understanding ahead, national bank notes may be printed in advance and issued at once on receipt of the bonds, instead of waiting the usual twenty days.

"It would not pay banks outside New York to buy bonds and take out circulation unless interest rates should work considerably higher. In that event, they would do so voluntarily."

BURKE A PICNIC HEADLINER AT MASON PARK TOMORROW.

Friends of the Late Oil Inspector Intend to Make Him the Feature at the County Democracy Demonstration.

Friends of Robert E. Burke who have been chafing because he was not made one of the democratic campaign committee, propose to feature him at the County democracy picnic tomorrow. In doing so they will put forward Miles J. Devine and other local speakers to deplore the lack of an old time leader or two, and to "roast" the Harrison-Tuley-Carey committee.

As a result of the story circulated that those who attend the outing at Mason park will hear something good Chairman Doyle had messengers out yesterday trying to find Mr. Burke. He wants a conference and, if possible, prevent the threatened attack. But Mr. Burke could not be found. It was said he had heard of the chairman's movement and kept away from the headquarters at 175 Randolph street.

Democrats friendly to Burke have been told that Mayor Harrison and Burke agreed that the best interests of the party would be served by Mr. Burke retiring from public view.

CULLOM AND REEVES TO HELP.

Senator and Congressman Promise They Will Make as Many Speeches as Any of the Spellbinders.

Both Senator Cullom and Congressman Reeves yesterday assured Chairman Hogan of the republican state speakers' bureau that he could depend on them to make as many speeches as any other of the Illinois spellbinders. Mr. Reeves said that his personal feelings towards any one would have nothing to do with his work for the success of the party.

Mr. Hogan arranged these dates for Senator Cullom to speak: Carthage, on Sept. 15; Peoria, on Sept. 24; Carbondale, on Sept. 25 and 26; Carlyle, on Sept. 27. Dates for the Senator to speak at Paris and in Dan Campbell's district will be announced in a few days.

Senator Cullom's first speech will be in the Sherman-Berry district. Mr. Reeves expects to make some speeches in that district also. Charles G. Dawes informed Mr. Hogan that he would agree to make a limited number of speeches.

GUARDS ALL CREAMERIES.

FEDERAL COURT ISSUES ORDER IN ELGIN COMPANY WAR.

Judge Seaman at Madison, Wis., Enjoins Farmers and Others from Seizing Buildings Now in the Hands of the Receiver—Many Plants Already Taken Possession Of by Outsiders, Who Wish to Run Them Independently—Marshal Sent to Scene.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A new move in the Elgin creamery war tonight promises to bring peace, as an injunction was issued forbidding any interference with the receiver. This is intended to block the taking of possession of creamery buildings by farmers and others seeking to establish independent works.

Three Court Orders Issued.

William H. Seaman of Milwaukee, judge of the United States court for the eastern district of Wisconsin, sitting for Judge Romanzo Bunn for the western district court, issued the following orders:

A general injunction against all parties interfering with the business or property of the company as conducted by the receiver, the American Trust and Savings bank of Chicago. An order was made referring the matter to Henry M. Lewis, referee in bankruptcy of the western district court, with power to issue injunctions, and an order to show cause why he should not be committed for contempt of the federal court at Chicago was issued against Thomas Johnson of Boaz, Richland county, for throwing the company's machinery out of the creamery building at Yuba, under lease to the company.

Judge Seaman said that the farmers of Wisconsin and other persons in interest must understand that the business and property of the receivership was in the possession of the United States court, and any interference would be construed as contempt and would be punished severely.

Marshal to Block Seizures.

Dispatches came today from J. M. Garrison, superintendent of the Wisconsin branches, working in the field for the receivers, that two more creameries had been seized in Monroe county, near Sparta. Other messages tell of threatened "taking of forcible possession" in a number of other places. A United States marshal will leave Madison tomorrow for the scene of the trouble armed with the injunction order.

The injunction is general in its terms and operates against all parties interfering with the property of the company or the continuance of the business.

The farmers of Wisconsin in the district in which the Elgin company operates are dependent upon the branches of the company for a market for their milk, the competitive creameries having all been absorbed by the company. They are opposed to continuing to bring their product to the plants in the possession of the receiver, as they have not been paid for a month. Having no other available market, they are trying to evade the receivership by throwing out the machinery and establishing independent plants in the buildings.

BARTHOLIN CASE ARRESTS IN ALL PARTS OF COUNTRY.

Hartford, Conn., Reports the Latest Suspect—Indiana Harbor Prisoner Proves to Be the Wrong Man.

The extension of the search for Bartholin throughout the country is bringing numerous inquiries to the police regarding the missing man. Yesterday Lieut. Backus received a message from the chief of police of Hartford, Conn., announcing that a man resembling Bartholin had been arrested there. The chief requested some positive way in which the much sought man could be identified. Lieut Backus sent him the following terse reply:

"Wears rubber plate of false teeth in upper jaw."

As the lieutenant received no further communication from Hartford he concluded it was a case of the wrong man.

The suspect arrested at Indiana Harbor was identified yesterday as E. W. Bell, an Ohio barber.

CREDITORS BEGIN ACTION AGAINST RILEY DARNELL.

Institute Bankruptcy Proceedings and Secure Appointment of Temporary Receiver Until Petition Is Heard.

A petition to have Riley Darnell and the Darnell corporation declared bankrupt was presented yesterday afternoon to Referee Eastman, and the matter was set for hearing at 10 o'clock this morning. The petitioners were Wilson Bros., the United States Shirt company, and Cluett, Peabody & Co. The amount of the money alleged to be due the claimants is $20,000, of which sum the greater part is said to be due to Wilson Bros.

Referee Eastman granted an order restraining Riley Darnell from disposing of any of his property or of that of the Darnell company, and prohibiting the Darnell company from disposing of its stock in any manner. The Equitable Trust company was appointed to temporary receivership until the petition is further heard this morning, and an accounting had. The petition is open, and other creditors may sign it before the morning hearing.

OLD TELEGRAPH OPERATOR DIES

Edward P. Whitford Expires Suddenly of Heart Disease While Engaged at Onwentsia Club Tournament.

Edward P. Whitford, 8 Chestnut place, died suddenly of heart disease at the Onwentsia club at noon yesterday. He was in charge of the force of operators of the Postal Telegraph company covering the golf tournament. Through the morning he complained of feeling sick and was seated in a chair at the rear of the clubhouse when attacked. Dr. A. C. Haven of the Onwentsia club was called, but was unable to revive him. Mr. Whitford was a member of the Old Time Telegraphers and a veteran of the civil war. He was 56 years of age.

CHILD'S DEATH IS EXPLAINED.

Postmortem Held Over Daniel Hill's Infant and Then Burial Permit Is Issued.

The funeral of Gladys Hill, the 8 months old daughter of Daniel Hill, a broker living at 797 West Monroe street, was delayed yesterday afternoon until Coroner Traeger could determine whether the child came to its death from natural causes. Coroner's Physician Leininger made a postmortem examination, and declared there was no mystery in the child's death. Dr. Mark Thompson had made a postmortem examination of the child before he issued the death certificate, diagnosing the case as tuberculosis. The burial permit was issued.

William P. O'Malley, Hill's father-in-law, was made defendant yesterday in a suit brought by Harriet Mansfield for the possession of the first flat and basement of the house at 337 West Adams street. She asserts that the property was given her by her sister, O'Malley's former wife.

It is said that after O'Malley and his wife separated he continued to live in the flat and would not move out. The hearing will be before Justice Woods tomorrow.

CAMP GROUNDS OPENED TODAY.

Schuh, evangelist, will be in charge of the services. The grounds have a beautiful lake beach, and have been fitted up with all conveniences necessary to the comfort and enjoyment of the campers.

GUARD KILLED IN MINE RIOTS.

West Virginia Troops Sent Into Coal Region to Protect Lives.

STRIKERS FIRE ON MEN.

President of One Mining Company Made Target for a Bullet.

Bluefields, W. Va., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Crane creek valley has been the scene of rioting and disorder today. John Ruble, employed by the Sagamore Coal and Coke company, was killed this morning by striking miners.

Ruble, in company with Barney Shumate, started for a point on the works to stand guard. En route they were fired on and Ruble fell. Shumate opened fire on the miners, who fled.

Earlier in the day it was reported that two strikers and two guards had been killed in a general fight. Careful investigation fails to corroborate the statement.

W. H. McQuail, president of the Turkey Gap Coal company, was fired at through a window, but was not hurt.

State Troops on Scene.

Thurmond, W. Va., Aug. 28.—The entire Second regiment state troops arrived here this evening and tonight, and are being distributed about various coal properties where yesterday's trouble occurred.

Three companies will be stationed at Rush Run, two miles west, where yesterday probably 500 shots were fired across the New river between strikers and guards.

Strikers Open Fire.

The strikers opened fire on nonunion men going to work, and the guards returned the fire. None of the guards or strikers was injured. The strikers gathered in the woodlands and rocky cliffs on the opposite side of the New river from Rush Run mines and kept up a continual fire throughout the day.

Two houses belonging to the Chapman Mining company, near Red Ash, were burned Tuesday night, and other property is being destroyed. These facts led the sheriff to appeal to the governor for troops.

Troops Escort Nonunion Men.

Tamaqua, Pa., Aug. 28.—After a day of intense excitement the situation in the Panther Creek valley has quieted down. This evening company K of the Twelfth regiment, under the command of Capt. Helm, escorted the nonunion men to their homes in Lansford, Summit Hill, and Coaldale. While large crowds of strikers gathered on the streets, there was no hostile demonstration.

Tonight the officers of the Twelfth regiment stated that the Second battalion of that command, now stationed at Shenandoah, will be ordered here tomorrow unless the situation is greatly improved. The battalion will be stationed at Summit Hill.

Soldiers Arrest Rioters.

Of the five strikers arrested by the soldiers this morning four were released tonight and the fifth held on the charge of assault and battery and inciting a riot.

The five men were arrested this morning at No. 4 colliery. The soldiers were on a trolley car, which was surrounded by a crowd of strikers who hurled rocks at the troops.

While one of them, an Italian, was in the act of hurling a stone several soldiers jumped off and captured him. He offered resistance, and the soldiers were compelled to fix their bayonets. The striker was slightly wounded.

The troopers finally reached Lansford.

Second Fight with Mob.

A mob had gathered there and for a time it looked like riot. As the first car was passing through the mob Capt. Gearhart was struck on the right shoulder by a stone. Several soldiers jumped from the car in pursuit of the stone thrower. After an exciting scuffle they captured him.

They proceeded again, but had not gone far when another crowd was encountered. Half a dozen soldiers jumped off and captured three men, who, it is alleged, were urging the crowd to attack the troops.

VICTIM OF MIDNIGHT HOLDUP.

Bricklayer Waylaid by Two Men and Robbed—Police in a Lively Street Fight.

Daniel Lyons, a bricklayer, was held up at midnight in Thirtieth street, near the South Side Elevated railroad, and was robbed of a gold watch and chain. Chris Nelson, an employé of the Perrigo Undertaking company, was arrested by Policeman Jerry Griffin of the Cottage Grove station. Lyons was in a saloon at 2979 State street last night and displayed a large amount of money. Nelson and another man were in the saloon and saw the money, which Lyons afterward gave to the bartender for safe keeping without their knowledge.

When Lyons left the saloon, he says, he was followed by Nelson and the other man. One grasped him by the throat and choked him, he alleges, while the other took his watch. Nelson was locked up at the Cottage Grove avenue station and was identified by Lyons.

After a running gun fight at Forty-seventh street and Cottage Grove avenue yesterday Detectives Morgan and Malladay of the Hyde Park station arrested a man who they claim is a desperate burglar. During the shooting Lewis D. Green of 244 East Forty-seventh street, who was on his way home, was shot through the left arm. The prisoner gave the name of William Meany. He said that he lived near Thirty-third street and Emerald avenue.

WOMAN'S BURIAL GARB STOLEN.

Mrs. Joseph J. Ryan Has Mary McMillan Arrested on Charge of Stealing Her Funeral Clothing.

Charged with stealing burial clothing and drapery, Mary McMillan was arrested by police of the Lake street station yesterday. The apparel is said to have been taken from the home of Mrs. Joseph J. Ryan, 491 West Lake street. Mrs. Ryan has been an invalid for years, and, fearing that death is but a matter of weeks, has spent much of her time during the last months fashioning clothing in which to be attired for burial.

The white silk gowns and other articles of dress were exhibited to Mrs. McMillan, who lives in the building. She expressed the opinion that the clothing was too good to be interred after its only wearing. Yesterday Mrs. Ryan left the house for a trip to the park, and, returning, found that the clothing had been stolen.

"MISSING" GIRL ON A VISIT.

Story of Abduction Is Withdrawn by the Rev. Wallace V. Struble.

The Rev. Wallace V. Struble, who reported to the police early yesterday morning that his 14 year old daughter Beatrice had been abducted by a Pittsburg man, said later on that he was in error and that his daughter had remained away from home visiting friends in the city. The Rev. Mr. Struble and his friends were at police headquarters nearly all of Wednesday night, and at their request the police sent descriptive telegrams to police authorities of Defiance, O., Pittsburg, and elsewhere requesting the arrest and detention of the couple.

Justice Dismisses "Count's" Case.

The case of Albert de St. Chaines against W. F. Ronsaville, in which the latter is charged with assault and robbery, was called in Justice Hamburgher's court yesterday morning and dismissed. John J. Coburn, the attorney for the "count," was not able to be present and the justice entered the order.

CAR BAITERS IN A MELEE.

ROGERS PARK RESIDENTS RECEIVE ROUGH TREATMENT.

Union Traction Company Employes Eject Four Men from Barns After Wrangle with Conductor—Request for Receipt for Fares Refused—Jed Jewell Struck by Motorman and Knocked Down — Warrants to Be Taken Out for Attacking Force.

In a clash with Union Traction company employés yesterday afternoon at the barns at North Clark street and Devon avenue four Rogers Park "car baiters" received rough treatment. All four were ejected from the barn, and one of them, Jed Jewell, received a blow in the fact that knocked him down.

Headed by H. W. Phelps, the party of baiters boarded an Evanston electric car at Lunt avenue. Other members of the party were Jed Jewell, James McCabe, and W. C. Johnson. Conductor No. 22 went to collect the fares, but before giving their nickels the passengers asked the conductor to sign a receipt for the money.

The conductor refused to sign the receipts, and words followed until the barns at Devon avenue were reached. Here the conductor called Barnman Lee Gilbert, who, it is claimed, summoned a number of employés and ordered the passengers ejected.

Jewell was the nearest to the attacking force, and it is charged a motorman struck him in the face. Then another employé threw him from the car. Warrants for the arrest of the attacking force will be taken out before Justice Scholes.

Decide to Ask Receipts.

Mr. Phelps, in explaining the cause of the trouble, said:

"I lost my case of assault against a conductor in Justice Murphy's court because I could not prove that I had paid my fare. Today I held a conference with a number of residents of Rogers Park, and we decided to ask the conductors to sign receipts for our money. In this way if we are ejected from a car on submitting our own transfers we can fall back on the receipts as proof that we paid our fares. The conductor yesterday refused to sign his name and when we reached the barns Barnman Gilbert ordered us ejected. Mr. Jewell was treated brutally."

Baiters Organize a Party.

Mr. Phelps took revenge on the traction company last night by organizing a party of "car baiters" numbering 200, which rode all the way from Rogers Park and Edgewater to the city, around the downtown loop, and back to the starting point with the payment of but one fare each way.

Home made transfers were accepted under protest, when the party changed to the cable line at the barns, but on the return trip the conductor offered no objections to the transfers. At Howard avenue the track was blocked in order to hold the train, and Mr. Phelps made a speech in which he reviewed the fight against the double fare.

SAY TYPHOID DEATH TOTAL MAY INCREASE THIS MONTH.

Health Department Officials Add That Warnings to the Public Are Warranted by Conditions.

Health department officials say that from present indications the record of deaths from typhoid fever this month will exceed that of any August for a number of years. There have been 166 deaths from typhoid fever from Aug. 1 to 26 and the probable total for the month is put at 198. This will make an increase of 300.8 per cent over the typhoid death rate during the last nine years. The largest number of typhoid deaths in any previous August was 182 in 1891.

The officials declare, too, that they have no desire to create a "scare" on account of the typhoid situation, but that whatever efforts have been made so far to warn the public regarding the causes and methods of fighting the disease have been warranted by the increasing number of cases.

It is explained that the report that the "storm center" of typhoid fever is still in the Ghetto district is not exactly true. The report of deaths Aug. 26 shows that five persons succumbed to the disease in widely separated parts of the city. Deaths were reported on that day from 288 Washington boulevard, 887 Blue Island avenue, 3017 South Park avenue, 1243 Thirty-second street, and 729 Belmoral avenue.

JUDGE HANECY, AUCTIONEER, SELLS PAWNBROKER'S ASSETS

Property of Samuel Heyman Brings $17,000, One-Half of Which Goes to His Wife as Alimony by Court's Order

Judge Elbridge Hanecy acted as an auctioneer yesterday. He had the assets of Samuel Heyman, the Clark street pawnbroker, on the block, and, after much hard work and cajoling of bidders, the property was sold for $17,000. Justus Chancellor, acting for Mr. Heyman, was the purchaser.

Mrs. Heyman recently secured a divorce from her husband and was awarded one-half of his possessions for alimony. This made the sale necessary. Many prospective bidders were present, expecting to obtain some bargains, but at the close the sale resolved itself into a contest for possession between the attorneys representing respectively Mr. and Mrs. Heyman.

Judge Hanecy put a stop to $50 bids early in the game and announced he would accept nothing less than a $100 raise. Finally the amount offered reached $12,500, and the property was about to be knocked down for that sum, when Alexander Sullivan, for Mrs. Heyman offered $14,000 for the lot.

Attorney Chancellor for Mr. Heyman then bid $17,000 and secured the property, which had been appraised at $38,000. The terms of the sale were cash.

NORTH SIDE LIGHTS GO OUT.

Grounded Circuit Extinguishes Electric Street Lamps and Leaves Large District in Darkness for Hours.

All of the electric street lights went out last night in that portion of the north side bounded by Kinzie street on the south, Division street on the north, Clark street on the west, and the lake on the east, as a result of a grounded circuit. The break in the circuit occurred shortly after midnight, leaving the district in darkness and causing scores of complaints to reach the East Chicago avenue police station. City electricians at once started out to locate the break, but had not succeeded at an early hour this morning.

FIRE THREATENS BIG PLANT.

L. Wolff Manufacturing Company's Foundry and Enameling Works Narrowly Escape Destruction.

The immense foundry and enameling works of the L. Wolff Manufacturing company, Carroll and Hoyne avenues, was threatened with destruction by a fire which was discovered on the roof shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The well directed efforts of the firemen prevented the flames from spreading, however, and after a hard half hour's work the fire was under control.

THE TRIBUNE ALWAYS RELIABLE

BERLIN CHEERS KING EMMANUEL

Italian Ruler Makes State Entry Into the Capital with the Kaiser.

STREETS FULL OF PEOPLE

Police and Military Massed to Prevent Possibility of Disorder.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—King Victor Emmanuel of Italy made his state entry into the German capital this forenoon and was welcomed by large crowds of people.

The most elaborate police and military precautions were taken to prevent any hostile demonstration.

King Victor was accompanied by Emperor William. The drive through the Sieges Allee to Unter den Linden was advanced purposely half an hour ahead of the time publicly announced, as a further precaution against disorder.

The chief burgomaster, Herr Kirschner, advanced and read an address of welcome from a parchment scroll. Behind the burgomaster stood bareheaded a hundred representatives of the city in evening dress.

Welcomed by Pretty Girls.

Afterwards forty of the prettiest girls in Berlin, bareheaded and wearing white summer dresses, with the daughter of Councilor Weise at their head, offered to the royal visitor a bunch of yellow roses. The young king smiled and bowed in acceptance of the offering.

Gens. Corbin and Young and their party had a row of good windows. The American officers admired the splendidly horsed cavalry more than anything else. The show was over in a few seconds.

Shouting and the successive crashings of bands placed at intervals between the squadrons of cavalry marked the progress of the king and the emperor down the avenue. Later in the day the king and kaiser received the diplomatic corps. The secretary of the United States embassy, John B. Jackson, represented the United States in the absence of the American ambassador, Andrew D. White, who is in Switzerland.

Both Praise the Dreibund.

At the state banquet given this evening Emperor William in a toast to the king of Italy said:

"Your majesty is welcome as our faithful ally upon the renewal between ourselves and our illustrious friend, the emperor-king, Francis Joseph, of that alliance which unites us, which continues in its old strength, and which has woven itself into the lives of our peoples, after having for several decades assured the peace of Europe, and as it will continue to do."

King Victor Emmanuel, replying to Emperor William, said:

"In token of the brotherly affection uniting our illustrious ancestors, our nations will advance in civilization, protected by the old alliance between Italy and two imperial powers, which public opinion now recognizes as the emblem of peace and its most effective safeguard."

Decorations Are Exchanged.

The visit of King Victor Emmanuel to Emperor William has been marked by the conferring of many orders, including the Order of the Annunciata, which was personally handed by the king to Count von Bülow. The Order of the Black Eagle was bestowed on Sig. Zanardelli, the Italian premier, and the German ambassador to Italy, Count von Wedel; the Order of the Prussian Crown on Sig. Prinetti; the Grand Cross of Saint Maurice and Lazarus on the German secretary for foreign affairs, Baron von Richthofen; and the Grand Cross of the Italian Crown on the German under secretary for foreign affairs, Dr. von Muhlberg. Count Lanza di Busca received a bust of Emperor William.

King Victor will hunt with the emperor tomorrow and will leave on Saturday direct for Rome, not remaining to attend the military maneuvers.

The emperor, as already announced, will go to Italy later in the year. It is stated that on that occasion he will possibly call at the vatican.

WILL HELP NEEDY TURFMEN.

W. C. Whitney Founds the "Beresford Trust" in London for Benefit of the Racing Profession.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—William C. Whitney of New York has founded the Beresford trust, for the benefit of the persons connected with the turf who are in need of assistance.

Today's issue of the racing calendar officially announced the benefaction as follows:

"Mr. Whitney of New York, out of respect for the memory of Lord William Beresford, with whom he was associated in the successes of Volodyovski and other horses, has most generously handed to trustees 400 preferred shares of the American Smelting and Refining company of New York, which are now yielding an income of about £2,800.

"Mr. Whitney's original intention was to confine the benefaction to the value of the Derby stakes won by Volodyovski in 1901, but he has now decided to increase it to the above sum in the hope that it may form a nucleus of a more important charity.

"The trustees are Lord Marcus Beresford, Mr. Leopold de Rothschild, Sir Edward Colebrooke, and Sir Daniel Cooper, and the object of the trust is to benefit persons connected with the turf who may have become reduced in circumstances and when their cases have been investigated and found deserving of assistance. The trustees propose to meet twice a year at Newmarket to consider applications for assistance."

W. C. Whitney Confirms It.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—William C. Whitney confirms the announcement made in the English Racing Calendar that he established a fund for indigent English turfmen. In June, 1901, with Volodyovski he won the English Derby, the winnings of which were about $35,000, which he at the time donated for the charitable object stated above.

WILL WED JOHN H. HAYDEN OF NEW YORK.

Miss Vilas is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royal C. Vilas, 297 Ontario street. Announcement has just been made of her engagement to Mr. John H. Hayden, son of Mr. W. B. Hayden of New York. Miss Vilas is now at Alexandria Bay, Thousand Islands, where Mr. Vilas has a summer home. Miss Vilas is prominent in north side society circles. The early part of the summer she spent at the Moraine hotel in Highland Park, and she was a leading spirit in the entertainment given in the hotel lobby for the Gad's Hill settlement. The young woman went into the woods and came back with arms filled with green branches, vines, ferns, and flowers; and with these the end of the lobby, where the stage was built, was decorated. Local talent was pressed into service for the performance and $228 was netted. The money was used for renting tents for the summer outing of the settlement beneficiaries.

OHIO MAN LOST IN PARIS.

GUEST AT HOTEL DISAPPEARS AND POLICE ARE PUZZLED.

H. S. Norman of Mansfield and W. F. Dekay of Chicago Register and Are Assigned Rooms — Later the Ohio Man Disappears and Never Returns —Woman Claims His Baggage and Declares He Has Committed Suicide —Other Now in England.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 28.—The Paris police are investigating the mysterious disappearance of an American who registered at the Hotel Ritz here Aug. 15 as "H. S. Norman of Mansfield, O." Norman arrived from New York, accompanied by W. F. Dekay of Chicago. Norman soon afterwards went out and he did not return. Dekay left the hotel Aug. 17.

The following day an unknown woman went to the hotel and demanded of the manager the baggage belonging to H. S. Norman. The woman declared Norman was not the man's real name. Later she said that Norman had committed suicide.

Norman's effects have been handed over to Consul General Gowdy, who, upon examining them, discovered a handkerchief marked with the initials "H. S. C." This is the sole clew to the identity of the owner.

Traveled from New York Together.

Norman and Dekay, on their arrival at the Hotel Ritz, stated that they had crossed from New York on the steamship La Bretagne. Each of the men had a dress suit case, and that constituted their entire baggage. Mr. Norman was a man short of stature, with a ruddy face. He was flashily dressed and wore a narrow brimmed straw hat.

Dekay was taller and dark. He had an eccentric appearance. His hair was long and was cut in the style of old Puritans. He wore a peculiar looking slouch hat and was taken for some distinguished artist. They engaged communicating rooms, and after depositing their suit cases left for a walk.

Dekay Goes to London.

Dekay returned alone. It appeared that the men had a quarrel, because he asked for a room quite apart from Norman's. Norman never appeared again. Dekay averted all suspicion when he returned by asking the staff of the hotel Ritz if it was customary to appear in full dress there at dinner. He remarked incidentally that he was president of the Chicago beef trust and he was bound for London, where he was to boom the affairs of that concern. He left for London Aug. 17 after paying his bill.

Wesley Dekay in England.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Wesley Dekay has been stopping at a London hotel. He left this afternoon for the west of England. The manager of the hotel says he never heard of Norman and adds that Mr. Dekay was generally alone. The presumption is that Dekay was ignorant of Norman's movements.

There is no W. F. Dekay or Wesley Dekay in the Chicago directory. John W. De Kay is secretary of the North American Beef company and a resident of Austin. Mrs. De Kay said last night that her husband had gone abroad in the interests of the company and that she never had heard of Norman.

HOLBEIN FAILS. MILE TO GO.

British Swimmer Becomes Exhausted in Effort to Swim from France to England.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

DOVER, Aug. 28.—Montagu Holbein, who started from Cape Gris Nez, France, at 3:30 yesterday afternoon in an effort to swim across the English channel to this port, was taken from the water when only one mile from the pier. He was too exhausted to finish.

Holbein was in the water twenty-two hours and twenty-one minutes. He swam a distance estimated at fifty miles. Capt. Webb made the crossing in twenty-three hours and forty-five minutes.

It is claimed that Holbein terminated his swim at the point where Capt. Webb commenced his, and that, therefore, he accomplished his task, if Webb did. Holbein says he will not try again.

Frank Holmes of Birmingham, who started from Dover at 5 o'clock this morning in an effort to swim the English channel, was seized with cramps and abandoned the attempt when six miles out.

ALLIANCE TO BE CLOSER.

COMMERCIAL TREATIES MAY FOLLOW CONFERENCE.

German Press Sees Great Importance in Meeting of Rulers at Potsdam—Trade of the Empire Imperiled by Recent Tariff Plans—British Press Continues to Praise Roosevelt and Holds Declarations on the Monroe Doctrine Aimed Only at Berlin.

[Copyright: 1902: By the New York Tribune.]

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 29, 3 a. m.—The exchange of decorations and compliments continues at Potsdam and the German press seems deeply impressed with the diplomatic importance of the royal conference. The cohesive force of the triple alliance has been subjected to undue strain by the tariff projects and the discussions in the reichstag.

The royal conference may facilitate an exchange of views between the German and Italian ministers respecting the operation of commercial treaties, and this may open the way for mutual concessions between Vienna and Berlin.

German Commerce in Danger.

The increase of German export trade during the last decade has been due mainly to the enlarged commerce with the adjoining European countries. This commerce is menaced by the restrictions which the tariff makers are proposing. This subject was discreetly avoided by the burgomaster in welcoming the king to Berlin.

Italy's government, by reverting to Cavour's policy of diplomatic activity all around the circle, has increased its own influence on the continent during the stagnant period and forced Germany to lay undue stress upon the importance of the triple alliance.

Monroe Doctrine Now Liked.

The English journals continue to pay tribute to Frederick Roosevelt's courage and attempt to apply the vigorous reaffirmation of the Monroe doctrine to the German colonial intrigues in South America. The Venezuelan and canal questions have been settled and the Alaska frontier dispute has been forgotten, and the leading English journals, which violently condemned a few years ago the Monroe doctrine as an exhibition of Yankee braggadocio, now accept it as a policy to which England has no right to take exception.

The Monroe doctrine, according to this view, no longer concerns England, but Germany alone.

European Money Market Weak.

In Europe the weakness of the money market has been shown by the fall of consols since the close of the war in south Africa. This decline has been noticeable during the last few days. It is probably due to the general expectation that the Transvaal and French loans will prevent anything like ease in the money market for a long period.

Continued uncertainty respecting political affairs in south Africa is another factor in the problem. There are no signs of recovery in the mining market and there is despondency among the south African operators.

YOUNG MEN TOLD TO WORK

GEORGE W. PERKINS SAYS THAT IS THE ONLY WAY TO WIN.

Former Chicago Insurance Agent and Present Right Hand for J. Pierpont Morgan Declares Opportunities Are Everywhere, but That Everlasting Toil Is Necessary to Profit by Them —Pledges Anew His Faith in Chicago—Busy with Many Enterprises.

"Too many young men in this country don't want to work hard. They prefer to take things easy—stay up late at night and lie abed too long in the morning. They never can get ahead in that way. Times and conditions may change, but the old rule remains that there is no success without everlastingly keeping at it."

This was the word George W. Perkins, optimist, had for young America last night. Mr. Perkins formerly was a Chicago insurance agent. He still is a young man, and he is one who has succeeded. He has become the right hand man of J. Pierpont Morgan in that financier's world wide enterprises.

Day of Many Activities.

After the whirl of a day's activities in Chicago, in Colorado Fuel and Iron, in the harvester combine, in steel trust affairs, and other business interests, he emerged from his apartment at the Annex last night long enough to declare that this was the era of the young man—at least of the young man who will work.

Mr. Perkins had just returned from the Chicago club, where he was the dinner guest of Cyrus H. McCormick, and, active as he had been during the entire day, he had plunged into another commercial conference in his rooms at the hotel.

Interested in Young Men.

"I am interested in young America, and I like to see our boys push ahead and come to the front," said Mr. Perkins. "These are days full of opportunities. All that a young man who has brains and health has to do is to take advantage of the chances offered.

"Nor are the opportunities limited to any one line or occupation. They are found in every direction. It is more and more true, however, that a boy must fit himself for some specialty. Therefore, he must find out as soon as he can what he is especially adapted for and pitch into it."

Still Loyal to Chicago.

Mr. Perkins declared a permanent affection for Chicago, which his residence in New York had not lessened. His faith is in this city and the whole central west as well.

"The people in the east," he continued, "do not fully realize how rich this western country is. They have no adequate idea of the wealth centered in Chicago, St. Louis, St. Paul, and other western cities. When one comes out here and sees the conditions he must believe that the present prosperity of the country will continue for some time. It has a substantial backing that is bound to support it. For that matter, there are more or less evidences everywhere of continued prosperity. We see it in all lines of business."

Visit Starts Many Rumors.

Mr. Perkins' activity since he came to Chicago has started many rumors regarding the nature of his business. As is known, the New York interests he represents are intimately concerned with the harvester combination and Colorado Fuel and Iron, and efforts have been made to connect his visit with these negotiations.

Mr. Perkins does not deny he is here in the interests of these matters, but refuses to discuss them. He intimates, however, that when he completes his mission he may have something to say regarding what he has been doing. The only matter on which he made a definite statement was the harvesting deal, which he said was assured. He visited the Deering and McCormick works during the day.

Mr. Perkins planned to get away to New York by tomorrow, but last night said he did not know when he should be able to leave.

Confers with James J. Blair.

James J. Blair, the New York banker and broker, paid a flying visit to Chicago during the day, and was in conference with Mr. Perkins. This gave additional color to the report that Mr. Perkins was here in the interest of the deal by which it is reported the steel trust is seeking to get control of Colorado Fuel and Iron, as Mr. Blair is identified with the John W. Gates crowd in that company.

Paul D. Cravath, a well known corporation lawyer of New York, also is at the Annex, and is understood to be interested with Mr. Perkins in the latter's negotiations here.

There was a persistent report that one of the Goulds, whose names have been connected with Colorado Fuel and Iron, was in the city, but it could not be verified. He was not registered at any of the hotels.

WINNING HORSE STILL LIVES.

Animal Rode by French Officer from Brussels to Ostend Not Dead as Reported.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BRUSSELS, Aug. 28.—The horse ridden by Lieut. Madamet, the winner of the Brussels-Ostend military ride of eighty-two and a half miles, did not die at the end of the race, as reported yesterday.

It is claimed that the competition of yesterday has shown that horses will run to the last without slackening their speed until they drop from exhaustion, and that the maximum of what a horse could develop at full speed was sixty-five miles per day.

Emperor William forbade any officer of the German army taking part in the competition. It is stated that he regarded it as a useless experiment.

ARMY DEFENDED BY ROOSEVELT.

President Denounces Those at Home Who Criticise the Soldiers.

TOURS NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Spends Night at Home of Secretary Hay After Visiting Several Towns.

Newbury, N. H., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A defense of the army in the Philippines was the chief feature of President Roosevelt's speeches in New Hampshire today. Twice, before the Spanish war veterans at Manchester and at the G. A. R. encampment at The Weirs, did the president in vigorous language score those who would sully the names of the men who are fighting for their country.

President Roosevelt tonight is the guest of Secretary of State Hay, whose summer home, The Fells, is a few miles from here on the shore of Lake Sunapee. Speeches were made today at Nashua, Manchester, The Weirs, and Concord. The president addressed the people of Newbury briefly on his arrival here.

For the first time during his trip President Roosevelt last night slept on the train. At Kittery Junction, Me., a delegation representing the governor of New Hampshire boarded the train.

Not Dressed When Called to Door.

In his anxiety to respond to the greeting of the people of Clermont, a small station, the president, who had not finished dressing, rushed to the door of his car wrapped in an overcoat and bowed to the little gathering.

What threatened to be an accident happened at Manchester, where, during a drive through the city, the leaders of the four horses attached to the president's carriage became unmanageable and had to be taken out.

At The Weirs, where the Grand Army reunion was held, the people, in their desire to accord the president a fitting reception, came near causing a disaster. The president was for a time in the midst of a howling, surging mass, and was all but carried off his feet. So inadequate were the police arrangements that the crowd had entire control of the situation. After reviewing the veterans the president was escorted into the hotel for luncheon.

Governor's Staff as Waiters.

Here again the plans went astray, luncheon being finally served through the gallantry of the governor's staff, who turned in and acted as waiters.

In his address today the president paid particular attention to the trust problem, discussing the question along the same lines as in his previous speeches in New England.

At Concord, after paying a tribute to Washington and Lincoln, whom he held up as models for all men, President Roosevelt said:

"Now, it is not necessary to say to an audience in this state, where you have great industrial centers, the building up of which has added to the wealth of the whole state, that the farmer is benefited by the success of the manufacturing center, just as the manufacturing center must, in the last resort, depend upon the welfare of the country for its success. The farmer is benefited as the manufacturer is benefited; we all share alike in the upward movement. That is something that we want to remember. For weal or for woe, our fortunes are indissolubly connected."

Easy to Hurt the Trusts.

That the present prosperity would not have come without the work of capital and corporations the president impressed upon his auditors, and continued:

"Evils have come through our prosperity, but in warring against the evil let us be exceedingly careful not to war against the prosperity. Now, it would be perfectly possible at any time to make it unpleasant for the trusts—perfectly possible to prevent big corporations from making money. They did not make any money in 1893—and neither did any one else.

"Let us face the fact that there are evils. It is foolish to blink at those evils. Let us set ourselves, but temperately and with sanity, to strive to find out what the evils are and to remedy them. If any man tells you that he can advance a specific by which all the evils of the body politic will be made to disappear, distrust him, for if he is honest he knows not what he says."

Praises Civil War Veterans.

It was in his address to the Grand Army veterans in camp at The Weirs that President Roosevelt made his more extended statement regarding the soldiers in the Philippines. He said:

"Any American who has a proper sense of relative proportion of things must realize that to the men who fought for the union in the dark days of the civil war there is owing a greater debt of gratitude than to any others. Great were the deeds you did and vital the need of doing them.

"There was no money reward for what you did. There was hardly one of you who did not during those four years receive far less than he could have earned in safety at home. But you were driven to your work by the lash of your own hearts. You were spurred onward by the lift which only comes to a people of great and generous soul.

"We are all loyal Americans now—north, south, east, and west—all alike jealous of the nation's honor and welfare, proud of the nation's past, and resolute that her future shall stand even higher than her past.

Work in Islands Well Done.

"We have just brought to a conclusion a war in the far east—a war which sprang up as a sequel to our short struggle with Spain. The army, which has done its work so well in the Philippine islands, has had a task which was small, indeed, compared with yours, but which, nevertheless, was fraught with hardship and difficulty peculiarly its own.

"The men who, after three years of painful, harassing, incredibly laborious warfare in the tropical jungles against a treacherous and savage foe, have finally brought peace and order and civil government in the Philippines are your sons, your successors. They claim their share in your glory by inheritance and by their valor and their steadfast endurance have added new luster to that glory. They have been cruelly maligned, even by some who should have known better.

"In an army, in the best army, and especially in an army doing its work under such well nigh intolerable conditions as those which confronted our troops in the Philippines, there are bound to be instances of occasional wrongdoing. The temptation to retaliate for the fearful cruelties of a savage foe is great and now and then it has been yielded to. There have been a few, and only a few, such instances in the Philippines, and punishment has been meted out with unflinching justice to the offenders.

"But the real marvel is that under such conditions there should have been so little wrongdoing."

At Home of Molly Stark.

In his address at Manchester President Roosevelt said:

"It is about 125 years ago that Molly Stark's husband had a sawmill here, and it strikes me you are a pretty good representative of Stark, Maj. Sullivan. [A voice—"He is."] Stark did two things. He had his sawmill here, but when the country called to arms he was going to do his duty or Molly Stark was going to be a widow, and you, and those like you, who have done their duty in modern times, in the last few years, have been showing yourselves fit representatives of Stark and the men who founded our republic."

It was made known today that President Roosevelt, almost immediately after his return to Oyster Bay on Sept. 3, will make a flying trip to Tennessee and North Carolina. He will leave on the 5th for Chattanooga, where he will attend the conference of the locomotive firemen on the 8th.

NO TWO LAWS FOR ISLES, SAYS JOHN G. CARLISLE.

Former Secretary of the Treasury Disputes Government's Right to Hold Acquired Land as Foreign Territory.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 28.—John G. Carlisle of New York, former secretary of the treasury, in an address before the American Bar association today, spoke of the power of the United States to acquire and govern territory.

Unless the constitution is changed, said Mr. Carlisle, the law is the same, whether the territory is located in the eastern or western hemisphere.

The territory acquired by military occupation, the speaker declared, is held until congress can meet and substitute civil for military government. Congressional power to govern acquired territory was dwelt upon, and the Porto Rico incident in regard to imports and exports was alluded to by the speaker.

"Porto Rico and the Philippines cannot be domestic for one purpose and foreign for another purpose," Mr. Carlisle said.

In the section of patent, trade mark, and copyright law today the principal address was made by L. L. Bond of Chicago. Lysander Hill of Chicago read a paper on "Preliminary Injunctions in Patent Suits."

Neither Philadelphia's nor Chicago's chances for the American league pennant were injured or improved by yesterday's double header at the south side grounds, except in the fact that the distance to the wire is just two games shorter. The White Stockings won the first game through the magnificent pitching of Patterson, the convalescent, by a score of 4 to 1. The second game looked like Chicago's for a time, but the pace was too hot for Piatt, whom the Boston National league has signed for next year, and he lost his head and the game, with the assistance of some bad support in the eighth inning. The score was 5 to 4.

Both contests waxed hot and furious all the way, as is to be expected when a pennant hangs on the result, and nearly every one of the seventeen and a half innings contained its bit of excitement. Spectacular plays cropped out at intervals and every player extended himself to the limit to accept every chance and improve every opening. Monte Cross' sensational porch climbing act in the third inning of the second game was the real feature of the day. Jumping into the air less than thirty feet he pinched Green's good hit with one hand, making an apparently impossible catch. Green got revenge on him in a later inning, when he spoiled a hit by a brilliant catch and doubled up Hartsel at first to boot.

Athletics Fall Before "Pat."

Patterson was opposed to Pete Husting, a bridegroom of twenty-four hours' experience, in the first game, and Pete lost through a bunching of hits in the fourth inning. Up to that time neither team had a chance to score. Murphy gave the White Sox the opportunity which they improved when he fumbled Green's grounder as a starter. Davis executed a sacrifice neatly and Mertes walked. Then "Sandow" perpetrated the first of the two dumb plays of which the champions were guilty by allowing himself to be forced at second when Seybold muffed Daly's easy fly. If Mertes had "pipe dreamed" he would have been half way down the line when the ball was muffed, ready to go either way. It cost a run, for Isbell followed with a double and McFarland with another, which counted for three runs. "Mac" was nipped at third trying to stretch his hit into a triple, but the decision was mighty close. A couple of errors mixed up with as many hits gave the champions their other run in the sixth. The Athletics scored their lone run on a pass, a single, a sacrifice, and an infield out. Only two other visitors reached second during the game.

"Rube" Put on Exhibition.

Chicago started off well in the second game, scoring in the first inning, although "Rube" Waddell struck out three men. Strang beat out a bunt and stole second after Jones and Green had fanned. Davis came to his rescue with a clean single, which counted the run. George stole second, too, but Mertes struck out. In the fourth a run was lost by Mertes' inability to bunt after Davis had reached first on Lave Cross' bad throw. Davis then tried stealing and was caught. A pass to Daly followed, and Isbell's long double ought to have scored two men instead of one.

Meanwhile the Athletics had made but one hit off Piatt in four innings. In the next round Davis' fumble of a slow hit, followed by a steal, Piatt's wild throw, and Schreck's single, let Murphy around with the visitors' first run. The champions came back with two in their half, and it looked good if "Wiley" could stand the pace. A couple of singles, with an out sandwiched between them, gave Philadelphia a run in the sixth, and still it looked safe until the eighth. Then the visitors won out after two were gone.

Piatt Weakens at Crisis.

A pair of singles put men at first and second. Piatt lost his head, made a bluff to throw to first, with no possible chance of a play there. It was a balk, both runners moved up, and Monte Cross banged a safe one out to Mertes, which tied up the game. Daly chased way out into left after Schreck's pop fly, which either Mertes or Davis had a far better chance to catch, missed it, and let Monte to third, from where he scored the winning run on Waddell's clean drive to left. Schreck tried to score on it, too, but was cut off at the plate by yards.

A lucky double play off Daly's line drive nipped possible runs in the eighth, but there was nothing doing in the ninth, McFarland and Callahan striking out. Score:

TEN INNING GAME AT ST. LOUIS.

Browns Make One Run and Defeat Baltimore in Good Contest—Arndt Makes a Great Catch.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 28.—St. Louis opened up at home today with a ten inning victory over Baltimore in a fast game played in the rain. Both Donahue and Katoll were effective and neither team was able to score until the final inning when Hemphill singled, went to second on an out, and scored on Gilbert's fumble. A sensational catch by Arndt against the fence was the feature. Score:

GRIFFITH TO MANAGE NEW YORK

Report Is Revived That Chicago Player Will Lead the New American League Club.

A dispatch from Washington last night revived the rumor that Clark Griffith would be the manager of the team placed in New York next year by the American league. Griffith's activity in signing players like Selbach, Williams, and Gilbert for the proposed New York club is cited as evidence of Griffith's connection with the club.

CHOYNSKI TO MEET TWO MEN.

Will Attempt to Stop Beauscholte and Driscoll in Six Rounds Each at Douglas Hall.

[BY GEORGE SILER.]

At the Illinois Athletic club's boxing show tonight, to be held at Douglas hall, Joe Choynski, the veteran light heavyweight boxer, will attempt to stop Jack Beauscholte and Jim Driscoll, Sig Hart's pair of fighters, in six rounds each.

Beauscholte will be sent against Joe first with instructions to make a rushing, whirlwind fight of it, this to weary the "vet" to make him easy for Driscoll. Choynski is in the pink of condition and says he will be sorely disappointed if he fails to knock out at least one of the youngsters.

The semi-windup, which will bring together young Mowatt and Kid Black, is causing considerable interest. Black has been going great guns of late and says he will send Mowatt back to punching fares. The boys are matched at 128 pounds. Dick Fitzpatrick and Jack Tully and Tommy Smith and Eddie Kennedy will furnish the curtain raisers.

The new Delmonico club, an Italian organization with headquarters at Aurora hall, has matched Tony Caponi and Harry Fagin to contest the windup of its first athletic entertainment, to be held on Sept. 2. Jack Gill and Jack Galligan will appear in the semi-windup.

The Textile Athletic club presents the following program of contests to its patrons tonight: George Wagner vs. Harry Brissy, Pete Fisher vs. Joe Mueller, "Kid" Parker vs. Eddie Frank, and "Buddy" Glover vs. "Young Veto" in the windup.

Champions Clinch Issue in Third Inning, When Six Runs Cross the Plate as Result of Batting Rally, in Which Conroy's Homer Is the Climax—Selee's Men Fail to Count Till Near the End—Notes of the Game—Other Teams Are Idle.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Jack Taylor got his bumps today. Up to this afternoon he had downed the champions three times, and had earned the record of having trimmed them more than any twirler. This was not Taylor's day, for the pesky Pittsburgers made him look like a selling plater, and singles galore rattled off the bat.

The Colts started poorly, and were out of the running from the call. Kling, whose batting was a feature, got to third in the first round, and waited on Tinker to score him, but Joe was retired at first. Pittsburg got away with a run, Beau almost tearing off Menefee's paw with a screamer. Leach drove one to left, and the run was home.

In the third the Colts' chances went glimmering. Beaumont took a double from Dobbs by a fine catch; Kling smashed the ball for a triple, only to be left on third, Tinker again failing to score him, and then Pittsburg settled the game. Phil put one in right, and Capt. Clarke shot a safety to left. Beau bunted a little fly toward first. It was Fred Clarke's ball, but he staid on the bag, Lowe failing to get it in time. Leach singled to left, and two runs were over. Taylor put in a wild throw to help the Pirates. Beau was out at the plate on a nice play by Lowe, but Wagner stole second and Ritchey walked. Conroy seldom hits, but he certainly smashed the ball this time, for Dobbs chased it to deep center. Conroy made four bags, and every runner scored.

Notes of the Colts.

Taylor used his underhand delivery after the fifth round.

Before the game, Bob Lowe's brother-in-law practiced at third. He is a clever amateur at Beaver Falls.

Four semi-pros, who want a trial on the Pittsburgs, were in uniform. They may get a chance against Chicago.

Kling was cheered when he came to bat. His drives were screamers. One triple went to left and another to right.

Menefee's small son laughed and said, "O, poo" when the vet. failed to hold a nice throw from Kling to stop a double steal.

Dobbs played so deep that Wagner after the batting began that Honus got a single on a high fly ball hit to ordinary center.

Frank Haller, player hunter for Brooklyn, sat in the stands. He declared that he reported an attempt to get Waddell was a bald fake. He told Connie Mack that he was not after Rube.

Southern Clubs May Bolt.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—As a result of the trouble in the Southern league over the eligibility of Pitcher St. Vrain, the disruption of the present league and the formation of another southern association is on tapis. Nashville and Memphis have made formal application for membership in the new association through George Tebeau of the Louisville club. In the event Memphis and Nashville are admitted it is said Minneapolis and St. Paul will be dropped.

Both races this afternoon were by far the best sailed and most exciting contested that have thus far taken place. The boats were instructed to go twice around the triangle, leaving all buoys to the starboard. This made a close reach, a free run, and a hard beat.

The start of the first race was spectacular, all the boats crossing the line in a bunch. Spinnakers were used as balloons with good effect and Breta hit up a gait that soon distanced the fleet. At the leeward mark Breta had a minute lead. The rest of the fleet was in a bunch, wabbling, and could not make turn. Finally Comet broke away and the rest followed closely. Beating back to windward Breta easily held its own, and through the remainder of the race could not be headed.

The start of the second race was most exciting, all the boats going over the line on the starboard tack in a grand reach for Rocky Point mark. Mavis got the best of it. Down the wind the boats made a grand run, Mavis, Aspirant, Crusader, and Challenge putting up a game fight for honors. Mavis turned first and continued to lead the rest of the course. Crusader and Aderyn finished closely, the White Bear boat beating Aderyn by a second. Summary of afternoon race:

Lawyers Say Northern Securities Company Litigation Will Continue.

DRAMATIC COURT SCENE.

Attorney Lamb Is Denounced by a Witness Angered by the Proceedings.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, Aug. 28.

There were many dramatic incidents in the hearing of the case of Peter Power against the Northern Securities Company today, and some important developments. At the conclusion of the proceedings A. W. Bulkley of the Chicago law firm of Bulkley, Gray & Moore, made the statement that the suits of Mrs. Ellsworth Ives Chapman and Milton L. Bouden would be pressed to the fullest extent. In the course of the day's hearings the fact was brought out that Capt. Henry Stern and Camille Weidenfeld went west a few days ago and induced Messrs. Moore and Bulkley, M. H. Boutelle, and Judge W. A. Lancaster of Minneapolis to come to New York, and that Judge Lancaster returned after staying only a few hours in this city.

Other Suits Are to Follow Power Fiasco.

"The end is not yet," declared Mr. Bulkley. "The Peter Power suit is merely a 'fake' now. It seems scarcely necessary to comment upon the propriety of the lawyers here pushing a case which they must realize is no longer of any standing in court. We were deceived by George Alfred Lamb and we are anxious to shake him off. Bouden and Mrs. Chapman are bona fide owners of stock in the Great Northern railroad company. Both of those suits will be pressed. As soon as we can get an order from the court in Minnesota we will begin the taking of testimony in those cases. They are legitimate suits, and will not be allowed to drop."

Capt. Henry Stern had been placed on the stand and asked to sign his testimony given on a previous date. The witness said he had been "hustling" so much lately that he had had no time to read his testimony.

"Mr. Guthrie, my name has been dragged in the dust," said the captain. "I wanted to know what has been going on in Minneapolis. I wanted to have men come on here and tell the truth about what I have been doing."

Then turning to Mr. Lamb, Peter Power's attorney, and throwing out his fist toward him, he continued:

"Now, sir, I am on your trail, and I'm going to camp on it. I've been heralded in the papers as having tried to get Peter Power out of the country. Sir, there's a limit to even what mad dogs can do. Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad, and you, sir, are fit for the lunatic asylum."

Mr. Chandler swears in a statement he was allowed to read that Lamb said he would rather ruin Cockran than have his fees, and that many men prominent in politics and finance—naming particularly W. C. Whitney and Thomas F. Ryan—were determined to destroy Cockran.

The yacht Kanawha, belonging to H. H. Rogers, the Standard Oil man, while speeding down the East river today was in collision with the Long Island railroad ferryboat Rockaway. Considerable alarm prevailed for a few minutes among the passengers. Some of the women ran to the deck carrying life preservers, but their fears were allayed.

few days ago in Newport, was filed for probate in the surrogate's office in this city today. It is provided that the estate shall be divided into eight parts, and that seven such parts shall go to the wife of the testator, in case a wife shall survive him. The bequest is made for the purpose of providing for the wife of the testator and any issue that they may have. At the death of the wife her share is to pass to the issue of the couple, if there be any living. The remaining one-eighth of the estate is bequeathed to the eldest sister of the testator, Maria H. Remington.

Announcement was made today that the directors of the Century Realty company have voted to increase the capital stock of the company, which is now $1,000,000, to $3,000,000. The company is to build an eighteen story skyscraper on the site of the old Stewart mansion at Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue.

Mrs. Eva Arndt, a widow, jumped from a fourth story window of the burning apartment house at 315 West One Hundred and Twenty-first street, early this morning to the stone areaway below, and was so badly injured that she died soon afterward in the hospital. Only a moment before Mrs. Arndt had passed her 8 year old daughter Hazel through the window to a policeman. He was reaching out his arms to receive Mrs. Arndt in turn when a sudden gust of wind whirled the flames into the window, so terrifying the widow that she made the fatal leap. Four other persons were painfully injured in the fire.

Ada Gray, the actress, known in private life as Mrs. Charles S. Tingay, died yesterday from locomotor ataxia in the home for incurables at Fordham. Her funeral was held today in the rooms of James J. Slavin, an undertaker, 25 Spring street, and she was buried in the Actors' fund plot at Evergreen cemetery. The only persons at her funeral were her sister, Mrs. Cornellus, and her husband from Boston. Charles S. Tingay was not present.

Searchers in the ruins of the barn of John S. Holmes of Bridgeton, Conn., which was burned last night, found the charred bodies of Holmes and his housekeeper, Miss Katherine Shute. John Murray Williams, colored, a farm hand, who had been employed by Mr. Holmes, was arrested today on suspicion of having been implicated in burning Holmes' barn.

Grand Duke Boris of Russia, with his suite, arrived tonight from Buffalo. He said: "About this story of drinking out of a slipper, will you say, please, that it is incorrect? I believe the reporter performed that ceremony himself. It was an interesting idea, the draft made it more so, and then he began to think and imagine things."

FOUR SUICIDES IN A DAY.

THREATENED WITH TYPHOID, DOCTOR STABS HIMSELF.

Max Hoffmann, a Physician, and a Patient in County Hospital, Strikes Vital Organ with Pair of Scissors—Drug Clerk Finds Life Too Strenuous—Family Trouble Causes Wife to Take Poison—Police Hunting for a Supposed Drowned Man.

Fear of typhoid fever, with which he was threatened, caused Dr. Max Hoffmann of 4541 Emerald avenue to kill himself at the County hospital yesterday. He stabbed himself in the left side with a pair of scissors.

Three others during the day ended their lives, and a fourth is supposed to have committed suicide, though his body has not been found. A drug clerk thought life was too strenuous for him, as he had been maimed in a railroad accident. Family trouble is believed to have caused a wife to take poison; despondency due to illness led a man to hang himself; and losses on the races is assigned as a reason why the missing man may have jumped into the lake.

List of One Day's Suicides.

Those who tired of the struggle of life for the reasons given were:

DENNING, ARTHUR L., drug clerk; found dead from poison in his room at 2265 Indiana street.

DORGAN, MRS. J., 6411 Bishop street; swallowed carbolic acid; died at Englewood Union hospital; cause assigned to family trouble.

HOFFMANN, DR. MAX, 38 years old, patient at County hospital; stabbed in left side.

PITHY, JOSEPH, 37 years old, laborer, 655 May street; hanged himself; despondent because of illness and lack of employment; body found by his wife.

Supposed suicide:

FREIZE, MAX, 2053 North Paulina street, clerk; missing, and wife reports to police she fears he has carried out a threat to drown himself in the lake.

Inquest on Bride's Body.

At an inquest held yesterday over the body of Mrs. Minnie McCurdy, the bride of three months, who was found hanging to a chandelier in her house, 211 South Wood street, on Wednesday, the jury returned a verdict that she had committed suicide while temporarily insane.

Two letters left by the woman to her sister, Mrs. L. W. Franheim, and to her husband were read, revealing the cause of her action. They were as follows:

Dear Sophie—After thinking over all you said yesterday I went downtown this morning and drew the money from the bank. I inclose the draft [for $1,000] for it is made out to William. Am going over to South Haven in the morning, and, if I cannot return you keep it and use it for your family. Dr. Watson did not come this afternoon, and I know well enough what the end will be. My mental strength has been gradually going for the last two years and she just tries to keep me quiet. It is too late for me to make my life over again, and this money may save you and yours, so you will be able to get on your feet once more. With love to you all, I remain your sister, MINNIE.

P. S.—If I do not succeed in my trip I will return on Saturday.

My Dear Husband—You have tried to help me and have always been kind and good to me, so try and forget that I ever lived. For the last few years I have felt that my mind was giving away and I cannot bear to think of being a burden to any one. It would just be terrible to spend the rest of my life in an insane asylum. So I take this way to end it all. Please deliver the letter to Mrs. Franheim. Do not mail it, as there is a check in it. Goodby. MINNIE.

Mrs. Franheim, testifying at the inquest, said her sister intended to visit South Haven in an effort to get back her health.

"My sister thought her physician had given up all hope for her recovery," she said, "and she was despondent."

EXPECT 119,000 MEN IN LINE.

Union Leaders Expect 232 Organizations to Be Represented in Labor Day Parade Next Monday.

Union labor in Chicago expects to show a force of 119,000 men in line in the Labor day parade on Monday, representing 232 organizations. This was the estimate given out yesterday by George Hodges, secretary of the Labor day committee, after he had revised the returns received at his office during the week.

It was announced that the holiday of the union workers will be strictly observed in the stockyards for the first time. Not a wheel will be turned on Monday except in the refrigerating plants. All of the shipments that would ordinarily be made on Monday will be loaded on Sunday, for which the packing houses will pay extra time to the men.

The Carpenters' union yesterday completed arrangements for the collection of the miners' relief fund during the parade. A wagon with a low box, drawn by white horses, led by two miners, wearing their lamps and working clothing, will head this division. In the wagon will be a glass case for receiving the contributions of the bystanders.

RISK COMPANIES SWELL TAX ROLL

Board of Review Adds $1,000,000 Which the Assessors Have "Overlooked."

ESTATES, TOO, ARE FOUND

Beside Disposing of Insurance Concerns Street Car Arguments Are Heard.

Besides hearing arguments on the question of assessing street railway franchises the board of review yesterday listed something like $1,000,000 worth of valuations on fire insurance companies and estates that had been "overlooked" by the assessors.

A schedule aggregating $7,477,883.65 was received from the People's Gas Light and Coke company, but was not acted on. It is so much at variance with the figures of the assessors that the reviewers want time to investigate.

When the board gave its attention to fire insurance companies 106 were listed for taxation. Only a few of the number had been assessed by the board of assessors and all of these were raised.

These Put on the List.

South Town	$3,634,825.20	Hyde Park	$ 757,444.78
North Town	463,396.21	T. of Lake	520,200.76

For the south town the company put in 395 miles of mains at $747,447.04; north town, 166 miles, at $332,973.48; west town, 390 miles, at $1,198,970.83; Lake View, 179 miles, at $350,836.74; Hyde Park, 289 miles, at $578,770.08; and Lake, 171 miles, at $343,315.53. It states that the cash on hand May 1 amounted to $2,168,584.50.

In substance the arguments of the street car companies against assessing the rights of these corporations to occupy the streets was that they have no leaseholds. The attorneys contended that the rights of their clients are on a par with the rights of omnibuses and all other kinds of public vehicles. The argument will continue today.

MINISTER WU MAY NOT GO.

Chinese Advices Say Effort Is Being Made to Keep Minister in Washington Another Term.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 28.—Chinese advices say the order to Wu Ting Fang to remain at Washington was issued at the suggestion of Viceroy Yuan Shih Kai, who memorialized the throne, saying that in his opinion no other official was better qualified for the post. He recommended that Wu be given another term of ministry.

Nothing Known in Washington.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—The inference to be drawn from the reference to Minister Wu Ting Fang in the Victoria dispatch, that his term at Washington has been extended for another three years, cannot be explained by the officials of the Chinese legation here. The latest official information is that Liang Cheng will take up his new duties in Washington next spring. In that case Minister Wu will not leave Washington until April or May next.

VETO FOR FREE PERMITS.

CITY IS LOSING HEAVILY AND ALDERMEN MUST DESIST.

Abuse of the License Privilege Has Cost Chicago $20,000 Within Two Months, It Is Estimated, and Acting Mayor McGann Tells Members of the Council That the Practice Must Stop—Fick Fails to Secure Favor—How System Has Failed.

Abuses of the free permit system by Chicago aldermen have resulted in the depletion of the city's revenue to an amount estimated at about $20,000 in the last two months alone. Since July 800 "wagon permits" and 1,000 peddler permits have been issued. The first takes the place of a $25 license and the second of a $10 license.

To such an extent has the raid on the city collector's office gone that Mayor Harrison put his foot down. After he had left town the aldermen turned their attention to Controller McGann, who, as acting mayor, had the power to issue the permits.

The controller was given a "tip" yesterday. He was told that the aldermen were imposing on him, and he also called a stop on the free permits. Ald. Henry L. Fick of the Ninth ward was the first to be refused requests for permits. The mayor had endeavored to head Mr. Fick off two months before.

The free permit system is intended to enable a poor man or woman to earn a living. A man may have just enough money to buy a stock of cheap articles for peddling. If he had to take out a license he would be unable to do business. So the city gives him a free permit to get a start.

It is said that a majority of the 800 wagon permits and the 1,000 peddler permits which have been issued in the last two months have been in favor of persons who could have afforded to take out licenses.

"The aldermen not only get the free permit but they get it renewed when the term has expired," said a city official, "and their constituents do business the whole year without paying a cent for licenses. It keeps a clerk busy writing out the permits."

"The idea itself is a proper one. It is to help the poor man get a start, but it is being used to the detriment of the city's income. One would suppose that the bulk of the permits would be given in the First ward, where there is the largest transient class and the greatest number of lodging houses. If the use of the permit system were on the square that is where the greatest number would be issued.

"But such is not the case. Some of the west side resident wards get the highest number."

MAYOR TO RETURN WEDNESDAY.

Building Commissioner Kiolbassa Is Back and Talks of Charges Against His Men.

Mayor Harrison is expected to return to Chicago next Wednesday. Word was received from him yesterday that he would leave Marquette, Mich., tomorrow on a fishing trip in northern Wisconsin. From there he will return to Chicago.

Building Commissioner Kiolbassa returned yesterday. He spent a few hours at his office during the early part of the afternoon learning what had been done during his absence.

"I do not propose to allow a subcommittee from the city council to run my office," said he. "I intend to investigate the Sedlak case, and if any prosecution follows both the one who gave the alleged bribe and the one who took it will be included."

BOOK LOVERS IN CONVENTION.

Members of the National Library Association Hold a Meeting at Madison, Wis.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The convention of librarians, trustees, and others of the west interested in books, opened in the state historical library today for a three days' session, some eighty delegates being present. Nearly every western state and many in the south and east will be represented.

The morning was given to a discussion of public documents. The regular paper was by Miss Adelaide R. Hasse of the New York City library. Miss Hasse is pronounced by librarians to be the foremost authority in the world on the care and cataloguing of government literature. She has just closed a series of lectures on her special theme at the library summer school, which has been in session here the last summer.

Miss Hasse's paper was followed by a discussion, in which Miss Brooks of the Carnegie library of Pittsburg and Miss Esther Crawford of the Cleveland library took part. Miss Brooks told in detail, in answer to queries from the audience, how public documents are included in the popular card catalogues of the Pittsburg institution.

It was reported late last night that complaints had been preferred against Capt. John Rehm and Lieut. Ambrose of the Maxwell street police station by Chief O'Neill, charging them with failing to enforce the wineroom ordinance in their district. It is understood that a hearing of the charges will take place before the civil service commission next Tuesday.

CASH FOUND IN BANK SAFE: DURHAM MAY BE A SUICIDE.

Discovery of Money and Notes Indicates Missing Man from Elnora, Ind., Did Not Abscond, as First Supposed.

Washington, Ind., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The safe in the Elnora bank, of which the missing Pleasant Durham was president, was opened by Sheriff Morgan this afternoon, and, to the surprise of every one, $531 was found. Besides the cash $500 in good notes was discovered, as well as a $500 note signed by Durham himself and payable to the bank. This note goes to show that Durham was in debt to his own bank for money he had converted to his own use.

The discovery of so much money in the safe has convinced many that Durham has committed suicide, and there is talk of searching White river, which flows near the little town, with the hope of finding his body.

Many of the depositors who lost considerable money by Durham's disappearance will not accept this theory. They claim that he absconded with the $3,500, and in order to effect his capture have offered $200 reward.

The combination to the safe was received by Sheriff Morgan from Frederick Kingsland, the Chicago attorney who is alleged to have been financially interested in the bank, but who claims he was merely Durham's attorney.

Pleasant Durham's brother, E. C. Durham, declared last night that he did not believe the banker had committed suicide.

"I know of no reason why he should take his life," said Mr. Durham at 560 Forty-second street. "We believe that the bank is all right. A story got out that there was to be a change of management, and this started a run. I believe Pleasant just closed the doors and went away to wait until the excitement quiets down. Then he will return."

Mrs. Durham, too, expressed her belief in her husband's safety, though she says she doesn't know his present whereabouts.

POWER GIVEN CUSTOMS AGENTS.

Collectors May Use Reasonable Discretion, but When in Doubt Must Impose Full Duty.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Customs officers are allowed a certain amount of discretion in collecting duty on articles brought in by tourists, according to official instructions issued by Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, but in cases where they are in doubt they are to collect the full maximum tariff and permit the question to be decided by an appeal from their ruling.

This and other interpretations of the law of 1897 regarding personal effects exempted from duty are contained in two circulars from the secretary made public today. The first of these orders says in part:

"There is no warrant in this language or in any ruling of the department that justifies the importation of cigars, spirituous, vinous, or malt liquors in any other quantity or manner than provided by law; neither is there anything in the circular to warrant the exemption of merchandise, as such, from duties."

"It is the intention of the department to grant the traveling public every reasonable facility for their enjoyment abroad and their convenient return; but, while this is being done, the extreme penalties of the law should be visited upon those who seek to take advantage of its relaxed rules for purposes of smuggling."

American Sends a Word to London.

We may get such ephemeral things as fashions from London, but it seems that London turns to us for styles in vocabulary, and has recently imported the word "strenuous" straight from American shores. Mr. William Alden says that this adjective is the most popular one in London, and he "strenuously desires to ask President Roosevelt never to do with any other word what he has done with strenuous." The critic furthermore says that this word has entirely outrivaled the old favorite, "blooming," and things that were once blooming have now become strenuous. And no doubt this is not a mere matter of words, but rather does it imply that Londoners are imitating us not only in the use of a word but in what the word stands for, and that they are cultivating ideals of American strenuousness. Of course, that term "strenuous life" has many conceptions. Dr. Andrews declared football to be part of a strenuous life, a poet has sung the praises of a "spirit stirring wine that strenuous makes," while many people believe neither football nor wine is a necessary element in the making of that ideal life. Yet it is a good word and America may be proud of having made it the fashion. If some etymologist could discover that the word Chicago stood for strenuousness no one would be disposed to dispute his arguments.

HOME RULE IN LABOR QUESTIONS.

The popular indignation aroused by the offensive demeanor of the anthracite mine operators and their sanctimonious assurances that they, "to whom God in his infinite wisdom has given the control" of the hard coal mines, are not accountable to mere mortals for their acts, should not cause the public entirely to disregard what Mr. Abram S. Hewitt has said on the subject of the strike. Mr. Hewitt has always defended the right of association, for labor and for capital. He still defends it.

Mr. Hewitt opposes a national organization of mine workers for much the same reason that he would a national organization of farm laborers. His objection is that the coal regions differ so much from each other that the policy adapted to one is utterly unsuited to another. Not only do the conditions in hard and soft coal mines differ widely, but mining districts in the anthracite regions differ each from the other. The mining industry is one to which independent local labor organizations are adapted, while a national organization is not. Mr. Hewitt says:

> The various mines differ from each other in conditions, requiring careful adjustment in the wages of labor and in some respects in the hours necessary to keep them in working order. All that a national organization could possibly do would be to support the claim of workmen who for any reason are dissatisfied with the conditions which prevail in any particular locality or mine. But to call a general instead of a local strike when a local grievance is not adjusted in a satisfactory way is an outrage of such vast proportions that it cannot for one moment be tolerated by a free people.

In some districts in the anthracite regions a majority of the miners voted against a strike. They were quite satisfied with wages and conditions of employment. Why should the mines in which they worked be closed because a majority of the miners in other districts were dissatisfied?

There is a principle of home rule and of local self-government in the field of labor as there is in the field of political administration. For that principle Mr. Hewitt contends. It seems to him, as it will seem to many others when they give the matter thought, that employers and employes working in one locality under special conditions are better able to determine for themselves what is best to be done than men engaged in the same industry in other localities where conditions are altogether different.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

President Roosevelt said last Tuesday:

> Our interest in the Monroe doctrine is more concrete than ever before. The Monroe doctrine is simply a statement of our firm belief that on this continent the nations now existing here must be left to work out their own destinies among themselves, and that the continent is no longer to be regarded as colonizing ground for any European power.

Some English papers call this "President Roosevelt's modified interpretation of Monroeism." One paper—the Times—says it believes the president "has defined Monroeism in a more direct and definite form than it has been presented to the world by anybody with authority to speak on the subject" since it was first enunciated.

The president cannot with truth be said to have modified the Monroe doctrine, either by contracting or enlarging its scope. Nor can he be said to have set forth that doctrine more distinctly than it was set forth by Secretary of State Olney—who had "authority to speak on the subject"—in the notable letter concerning the Venezuelan boundary question written to the American ambassador at London. In that letter Mr. Olney defined the scope and limitations of the Monroe doctrine as follows:

> The rule in question has but a single purpose and object. It is that no European power, or combination of European powers, shall forcibly deprive an American state of the right and power of self-government and of shaping for itself its own political fortunes and destinies.

To this definition no American took exception. In that letter Mr. Olney said also: "Today the United States is practically sovereign on this continent, and its fiat is law upon the subjects to which it confines its interposition." This called out British indignation and American approbation. In referring to the Monroe doctrine the other day the president did not assert for the United States that sovereignty which Mr. Olney asserted for the republic. It was not necessary for him to do so. But Mr. Olney's sentiments are his sentiments. That will become apparent should any European power venture to take liberties with the Monroe doctrine.

DRIVEN TO A CHOICE OF EVILS.

A "Dissatisfied Republican," living in John Humphrey's senatorial district, writes THE TRIBUNE a letter which sets forth clearly his position as to two of the candidates whose names will be on the blanket ballot next fall. It is the position unquestionably of a "large and respectable" element in the republican party in the district.

The "Dissatisfied Republican" says he does not like John Humphrey. He believes him to be a "political scamp." He believes that Humphrey has been in the past too good a friend of gas and traction companies, and probably will continue to be if reelected. But John Humphrey, objectionable as he is in many respects, will vote for a republican for United States senator. Western Starr, the independent candidate for state senator, presumably would be a model legislator, but he is a democrat and would vote for a democrat for United States senator. Therefore the "Dissatisfied Republican," though "despising John Humphrey as man and as politician," intends to vote for him because in so doing he casts a vote for a republican United States senator.

A democrat in the Senate from Illinois would neutralize the vote of the state on all political questions in that body. This seems to the correspondent a greater calamity than the election to the state senate with its fifty-one members of one man who cannot be depended on to vote for good laws or against bad laws. The correspondent is not the only one who, having to make a choice between two evils, considers it less of an evil to elect an objectionable man to the state senate than to elect a politically objectionable man to the United States senate. There have been occasions when the latter undoubtedly would have been the greater evil.

It is deplorable that men should be driven to make the choice of evils. They will be compelled to do it often, as long as the present method of electing United States senators is adhered to. If the people could vote directly for senators the "Dissatisfied Republican" in John Humphrey's district would vote against John Humphrey. So would many other republicans. With his reputation what it is, it would be impossible for him to be elected when running against a man more deserving of public confidence. In John Humphrey's district and in other districts men—some republicans and some democrats—who confessedly will be bad legislators, whose presence in the general assembly will be an injury to the state, would meet with deserved defeat were it not that they can be relied on to vote for the candidate of their party for United States senator. To improve the quality of state legislatures the election of United States senators must be taken from them and given to the people. Then it will be in the power of a republican to vote for the party nominee for the United States senate and at the same time scratch any John Humphrey whose name may be on the ballot.

FUTILE AND BRUTAL.

Americans are so unimaginative, so matter of fact! When they read the accounts in yesterday's papers of the international military horserace from Brussels to Ostend there was not a sign of appreciative enthusiasm. There was simply indignation and disgust, disgust among those practical Americans who do not see why good horses should be wasted and indignation among those humanitarian ones (a large number) who cannot be convinced that in an enterprise by which nothing useful is to be demonstrated there can be any excuse for driving animals to death.

That picture of the intrepid Lieut. Madamet staggering—no, it was his horse that was staggering—into Ostend after an eighty-two and a half mile ride leaves us cold. The still intrepid lieutenant, bowing his acknowledgments to thousands of cheering spectators while his horse panted its last beside him, is equally unsatisfactory as an inspiring spectacle. Let dogs, or horses, or cats, or other animals be tied down and cut up by scientific men for the benefit of humanity if the benefit can be proved. That is one thing. This racing of horses to death for no purpose except sport is another. What does the ride from Brussels to Ostend establish? What principle of warfare has it made clear? We knew before that horses would die if they were ridden too far and too hard. Lieut. Madamet cannot claim to be the discoverer of that fact. Futile and brutal at the same time is, therefore, the verdict which Americans will pass upon Lieut. Madamet's performance. The training given to the American cavalryman in the art of getting a horse through a long day without tiring him out will seem to people on this side of the Atlantic to be much more worthy of interest and approval.

PREPAYING FOREIGN LETTERS.

A high official of the postoffice department offers a suggestion which seems practicable and which certainly is called for by the situation. People have felt for some time that there ought to be some way of prepaying the reply of a correspondent in a foreign country. Suppose, for instance, that one wants to ask a Londoner some question the answer to which will be simply an act of courtesy on his part and of no worldly advantage to him. One feels like inclosing a stamp. But English stamps are not easy to get. Therefore one either refrains from sending the letter or else sends it with compunctions.

The suggestion now is that there shall be a special envelope, sold at a little more than double the ordinary price, which shall serve as a kind of coupon to one's foreign correspondent, and be by him exchangeable for a stamp which will send his letter back to this country. Such envelopes will be in great demand among foreign born residents of this country, who wish to hear from their relatives and friends in Europe, who are willing to prepay the replies to their letters and thus avoid putting the people they desire to hear from to what is sometimes for them a heavy expense, but who are at present unable to do so. It has been suggested before this that the countries represented in the International Postal union should issue a uniform foreign stamp. The danger in that was that owing to a slight inequality in value speculators might buy up stamps in one country and sell them in another at an advantage. The present proposition implies no danger of that kind. It is worth considering.

As our relations with foreign countries grow closer and closer, our exchange of letters with them will assume larger and larger proportions. The ability to prepay will then be demanded by every consideration of courtesy and of business.

A LESSON IN JUSTICE.

The southern papers have had much to say in a mocking manner as to the recent mob outrage in Marion, Mass., which involved the tarring and feathering and otherwise violent treatment of a man who had made himself objectionable to his neighbors. As the newspapers of that state have been conspicuously severe in their criticisms of the illegal acts of southern mobs the southern papers have replied in a still more vindictive manner. Their criticism has been all the more malignant because Monroe Rogers, a colored man, wanted at Durham, N. C., on the charge of arson, is in Massachusetts, and until within the last few days the governor has made no reply to the demand of the North Carolina authorities for extradition of the fugitive.

Because the demand was not immediately complied with the southern papers have generally assumed that it would be refused and have reopened their batteries of abuse with more virulence than ever. In the meantime, the old Bay state has set every southern state an object lesson in the administration of justice, the operation of law, and the preservation of order. As to its own affair at Marion, every person connected with the outrage has been indicted, will be tried, and, if proved guilty, will be punished. In the Rogers case, although the colored fugitive has a host of sentimental sympathizers who have been clamoring that he shall not be returned to North Carolina, the governor and the law department have proceeded according to the forms of law. The governor first ascertained from the governor of North Carolina that Rogers was to have a fair trial. He then gave the friends of Rogers the fullest opportunity to show why he should not be returned. They failed to do so, whereupon the governor has announced that the extradition warrant will be granted, and the man will be sent back to North Carolina to be tried for his crime by the laws of his state. There is a lesson in all this for the south as to the way the law is administered and justice respected in a law abiding state.

"THE TIME OF HIS LIFE."

When Prince Henry of Prussia was in Chicago he was asked by one of his entertainers how he was enjoying himself. He replied: "I am having the time of my life. They have no use for me at home except at funerals." It is not generally known whether the Grand Duke Boris of Russia is simply utilized for funerals at home or if he is of any use at all. No one has asked him outright whether he is enjoying himself here. Perhaps it is not necessary, but if he were asked he undoubtedly would reply even more emphatically than Prince Henry that he is having the time of his life. He would not be far out of the way if he should say that he was having the times of two or three lives.

With the manner of the grand duke's entertainment in Chicago, and the hearty, guileless way in which he fluttered from pleasure to pleasure, the public is familiar. He is still enjoying himself. Though his stay in Buffalo was brief, he managed to go to a vaudeville show, to get cast into the street for smoking in the lobby, to have a pleasant chat with two or three young women whom he had not known before, and then to be "swallowed up in a private dining room" at his hotel. Incidentally, the grand duke saw Niagara Falls and was "well pleased with the spectacle." He is now in New York, where, considering the opportunities for entertainment, he is likely to have still another time of his life.

The time of his life which the Grand Duke Boris is having is not so officially pompous, but it is individually much more satisfactory than that which Prince Henry of Prussia had. He is not racing around the country on schedule time. When he finds one place to be a more attractive summer resort than any other, as he found Chicago to be, he can stay as long as he pleases. He has no public mission or official purpose to carry out. He is not oppressed with the business of cementing international ties or conveying an emperor's assurances to any great and good friend. He is simply a good fellow, having a good time with other good fellows. He is not afflicted with heavy speeches of reception nor does he have to make perfunctory replies. He does not have to sit down to conventional public dinners where his every word and action is scrutinized. He does not have to pick his way carefully through the mazes of etiquette lest he offend some patroness or committeeman.

The grand duke is undoubtedly having the time of his life, and it is to be hoped the young fellow may continue to have it so long as he remains in this country. He must shortly return to Russia, where grand dukes and other dignitaries do not have the times of their lives, but have all they can do to look out for their lives.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright, 1902, by the Marquise de Fontenoy.

KING VICTOR EMMANUEL'S new postage stamps, instead of bearing his effigy, are adorned with an eagle with outstretched wings, with the arms of the house of Savoy on its breast. This has led the New York Sun and various other American newspapers to infer that the eagle in question is nothing more nor less than the old Roman eagle, and that its adoption is equivalent to an intimation that Italy aspires to extend its rule over all the territory formerly embraced in the old Roman empire, precisely in the same way that the adoption by Russia of the arms of Byzantium in connection with her national escutcheon was equivalent to a proclamation of the Muscovite purpose to revive the old Byzantine empire under the ægis of the czar.

As far as the new Italian stamp is concerned this inference is wrong. The appearance of the single headed eagle on the new Italian stamps and coins has no such meaning. The eagle in question differs in appearance from the eagle of old Rome, holds in its extended talons a serpent, and was in times gone by the armorial device of the senior branch of the house of Savoy, indeed, of the founder of the dynasty—namely: the count of Piedmont and prince of Achaja and of Morea.

In using the heraldic bird in question for his postage stamps and coins King Victor Emmanuel has merely revived the most ancient of all the armorial devices of his house. The eagle in question bears on its breast the shield, showing the silver cross on the red field, familiar to all who have seen Italian flags, while the head of the bird is surmounted by a royal crown, from which depend two streamers bearing the word "Fert," the mysterious motto of the reigning house of Italy, concerning the meaning or which so much difference of opinion prevails.

I may add that the eagle constitutes the heraldic bird of the kingdom of Prussia, of the German empire, of the United States, of the empires of Austria and of Russia, and of the now defunct empire of France.

Ex-Capt. Edward Lynch Blosse of the British army, who likewise served with credit in the United States army during the war with Spain, and who has just been sentenced to three years' penal servitude in London for swindling, comes from one of the oldest and most distinguished families of Connaught, the baronetcy owned by the head of the house having been created in 1622.

When a boy Lynch Blosse, who is almost as well known in this country as in England, enlisted in the British army, rapidly obtained promotion, and finally won a commission. Eventually he married Miss Brownrigg, daughter of the vicar of St. Jude's, Southsea. But her married life was unhappy. Her husband behaved in the most shameful way to her, and at last she came to this country, obtained a divorce from him in Dakota, and then married in Chicago a man named Booth, who within a year afterwards became insane. She subsequently returned to England, and eight years ago committed suicide by blowing out her brains, the name of Capt. the Hon. F. C. Howard, brother of the third earl of Effingham, being connected with the tragedy.

Indeed, according to the testimony produced at the coroner's inquest, the woman committed suicide owing to her having been cited as co-respondent in a divorce case brought by Lady Constance Howard against Capt. Howard, and, if my memory serves me right, he put an end to himself on the same day. At any rate, he died on the same day as she.

Capt. Howard's son, by the bye, is heir presumptive to the earldom of Effingham, one of the most illustrious of the British peerage, the first lord having been lord high admiral of England at the time of the Spanish armada.

I may add that at the time when ex-Capt. Lynch Blosse was arrested he was swaggering about in a gold braided staff officer's uniform, in which he posed as a member of Lord Kitchener's staff just home from south Africa. The London police declared that Lynch Blosse has been living the life of a swindler ever since he was mustered out of the United States service at the close of the war with Spain.

Although a most distinguished soldier, decorated for his bravery on the battlefield of Custozza, yet it was by means of an American sewing machine that Gen. Baron Thoemmel, whose death has just taken place at Goritz, won the most brilliant laurels in the service of Emperor Francis Joseph. Having worked up his way from the ranks and secured a commission, he was appointed military attaché to the Austrian legation at Cettinje.

The court of the reigning prince of Montenegro, which is even now of a rough and ready nature, was then even still more primitive. The princess had never heard of such a thing as a sewing machine, and, on being informed of the invention by the captain, as he was then, she expressed a great desire to possess one. The gallant officer took note of her wish, and at the first opportunity he not only purchased a superb American sewing machine at Triest, but even took the trouble of learning to sew with it, so as to be able to instruct the consort of the sovereign to whose court he was accredited.

Day after day the captain was to be seen at the princely konak or palace at Cettinje, engaged in teaching the beautiful Princess Milena how to work the sewing machine. And even after her highness had become proficient she used to summon the officer from the Austrian legation whenever a needle broke or the machine got out of order.

Written by the Dead.

[From the Louisville Courier-Journal.]

It does not often happen that a dead man writes the resolutions of respect adopted by his admiring friends. But this actually occurred in the case of Gen. Sigel. In 1874, when Gen. Hooker died, his war comrades met and a committee on resolutions, of which Gen. Sigel was chairman, was appointed to express their sentiments of respect and their feelings on the death of their former commander. The resolutions were written by Gen. Sigel and adopted by the meeting. When Gen. Sigel's friends met a few days ago to take action on his death these same resolutions, with the name of Gen. Sigel substituted in their body for that of Gen. Hooker, were adopted verbatim.

AID FOR RUSSIA'S SHIPS

GOVERNMENT PLANS A GENEROUS BOUNTY TO INDUSTRY.

Long Time Loans Without Interest to Encourage Building of Vessels at Home and Rebates on the Coal Used to Help Trade Are Features of the Scheme—Speed and Tonnage Must Come Up to Requirements to Secure Subsidy.

WASHINGTON BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.

Russia to Give Bounties to Shipping Trade.

For the purpose of developing Russian ship building, the czar's government proposes to offer liberal bounties to home industries in the shape of loans without interest for long terms and the government will bear part of the insurance on ships. To increase the export of Russian goods in Russian built ships the government will allow a rebate of half the expense for Russian coal used on all steamers engaged in foreign trade.

Commercial Agent Greener at Vladivostok advises the state department:

"The council of mercantile marine affairs has had under discussion measures to develop Russian shipbuilding. It is proposed to issue loans or bounties to ship owners to induce them to build ships at home rather than have them built abroad and to stimulate the purchase of Russian ships built of Russian material. This will be accomplished by a mortgage on the completed vessel at 50 per cent of the actual cost without interest for a period not exceeding twenty years, in equal yearly payments.

"The cost is ascertained by estimating the expense of building ships in Russia, according to certain regulations. The amount of the bounty depends upon the difference between the cost of building ships in Russia and abroad. The loans are issued to seagoing steamships under the following conditions:

"Plans and specifications of ships must be presented to the minister of finance; the steamers must rank in the highest class according to the British Lloyds regulations; the average speed of boats of over 1,000 tons register must be not less than ten knots in six hours' trial, and of under 1,000 tons not less than eight knots at Lloyds' lower load line.

Long Time Loans and Rebates in the Coal Used.

"To enable ship owners to repay the loans two measures are proposed," says Mr. Greener. "The loans will be on long time—twenty years—without interest, and the government will bear part of the expense of insurance. To facilitate the export of Russian goods by steamers built in Russia it is proposed to allow a rebate of half the expense for Russian coal used on all steamers carrying less than three-fourths of a full cargo on export and one-half of a cargo on import.

"It is estimated that the unavoidable drafts on the government treasury by these plans to foster home shipbuilding will not be so large as they would be by payment of direct navigation and shipbuilding premiums.

"The regulations were discussed at length, and they were considered ready to be sanctioned by the government council, but it was decided that the entire project must first be published in the press of the empire for remarks, criticisms, or suggestions from persons interested. This is done on account of the diversity of interests involved.

"Meanwhile, to supplement this plan, all Russian merchant ships will be registered and a comparative statement of methods of navigation in Russia and abroad will be compiled."

The surgeon general of the navy is in receipt of some interesting reports from medical officers in the Philippines who have been busy healing wounds. One of the cases was that of a Moro named Apy, a subject of the Dato Pedro Quevos of Bastlan. He was in a fish wier of a bamboo corral catching fish by hand. This native fisherman, while looking after his catch with his head under water, was bitten in the face by a shark about five feet long and his nose nearly severed. Four stitches were taken in the facial wound and the nose approximated as nearly as possible.

Many Recoveries from Old Wounds Are Reported.

Another case was that of a Molassa who was bitten in the thigh. One would think that cases of this kind would make aquatic sports unpopular, but they do not seem to have much effect.

An interesting case which the naval surgeons in the Philippines have recently treated was that of a naval apprentice, Samuel McKie, who, while swimming for practice with a firing party about three miles from Iloilo, was bitten in the leg by a shark. Had it not been for Chief Master at Arms Joseph Tait young McKie would have lost his life.

Tait, who belongs in Chester, Pa., who has served on several ships in the navy, and who is now on the Asiatic station for the second time in his career, tore up his shirt and made a tourniquet, and this served to afford relief until the surgeon arrived. The youth's knee joint was torn off and the muscles were torn from the thigh, necessitating amputation of the leg.

"There is no danger of defeat of any of the Iowa republican congressional nominees in the fall campaign," said Representative Hepburn. "Iowa republicans are in good shape for a political fight this fall, and are not divided on the tariff revision question. The democrats always have me beaten before the election is held, and I suppose they are still of that way of thinking.

No Danger of Defeat for Any Iowa Congressman.

"Iowa democrats are peculiar. They fight no matter how bad the outlook appears to them. My county, Page, illustrates forcibly the financial condition and the contentment of the people of my district, and of Iowa generally. On Aug. 1 the banks in the county, which has a population of 24,000, had individual deposits in their custody of $2,782,000, an average of $110 for every man, woman, and child in the county. This is four times the per capita circulation of the United States in general. Yet the democrats will nominate tickets and fight along the same old line.

"Prosperity never has been greater, and the democrats will be defeated."

Gen. Nelson A. Miles returned here today from a tour of inspection in the east, and he has not yet outlined in detail his inspection tour in the Philippines. Gen. Miles and his staff will leave here next Wednesday for San Francisco, where they will sail for Manila on Sept. 16 on the transport Thomas. Mrs. Miles may accompany the general to the Philippines.

Miles to Visit Every Camp in the Philippines.

"I regard my trip merely a visit to the army in the Philippines," said the general. "It is simply a tour of inspection, and I contemplate visiting every camp in the archipelago, although this has not been definitely decided. I regret it will be impossible for me to be in Washington during the Grand Army encampment. My spirit will be here, but my bones will be elsewhere. I should be delighted to be here with the comrades

ILLINOIS CENTRAL OWNERS TO MEET

Assemble in Chicago Today to Act on a $15,840,000 New Share Issue.

PRESIDENT FISH COMES.

Will Attend the Session, Which Is to Consider a Vast Improvement Plan.

President Stuyvesant Fish of the Illinois Central railroad company arrived in Chicago last evening to attend a special meeting of stockholders to be held at the general office at Park row today. This meeting has been called for the purpose of voting on the proposition to increase the capital stock of the company by an issue of 158,400 new shares of $100 each. This will bring the total capitalization up to $95,040,000, or 950,400 shares.

The new stock is for the purpose of providing the means for the further improvement of the company's lines. A portion of the amount will be used in improving the property south of the Ohio river. The line from Cairo to Memphis will be double tracked throughout, and the branch extending from Fulton, Ky., northeast to Paducah, at the mouth of the Tennessee river, may also be given a double track.

Work has been going on for some time in the direction of double tracking the lines in the south, the line below Jackson, Miss., being well along.

During the last two years the Illinois Central has expended several millions in Mississippi alone, and a liberal allowance out of the additional $15,000,000 will be expended in the extreme southern states as well as in Tennessee and Kentucky.

Without the double tracking which is under way the Illinois Central has from the ower Ohio river to New Orleans virtually two parallel lines at no great distance apart. The old route by way of Cairo to Fulton and thence south is supplemented by the newer line through Paducah, which runs southwest until Fulton is reached.

For purposes of handling traffic the company has the two lines extending nearly the whole distance from the lakes to the gulf.

Great Western Cuts Rates.

The Chicago Great Western took a turn yesterday in rate cutting for Labor day excursions by announcing a reduction of 33 per cent in its passenger rates from St. Paul to Kansas City, and also a reduction from Chicago.

The Great Western is now offering a rate of $10.90 between St. Paul and Kansas City and a rate of $10.90 from St. Paul to Chicago.

It is now said to be the intention of the Chicago Great Western to cut the time of its St. Paul trains to eleven hours fifteen minutes, cutting two hours and forty minutes from the present running time of the principal trains.

Change in Lumber Rate.

Buffalo-New York lines hereafter will apply to carload shipments of lumber destined to eastern territory the proportional rate of 20 cents, Chicago to New York. The change about to be made is equivalent to a reduction of 5 cents per hundred pounds. The western territory affected includes all lumber from Wisconsin, northern Michigan, Minnesota, and all Pacific coast points.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Western Passenger association here yesterday action was taken for the vigorous prosecution of Allardt, the ticket broker, and others who are charged with having altered and forged a large number of railroad tickets.

BIG FOUR TELLS OF EARNINGS.

President's Report Shows a Balance of $2,172,500 After All Charges Are Paid.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—President Ingalls of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway company today issued the thirteenth annual report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, as follows:

Gross earnings	$18,717,071
Operating expenses, including taxes	13,744,920
Net earnings	4,972,151
Interest and rentals	2,799,650
Leaving a balance to credit of income of	2,172,500

President Ingalls concludes by saying the outlook for business was never brighter.

"OUTSIDE" MEAT PLANT GROWS.

Continental Company Prepares to Enter Beef Trade, Despite Rumors of a Trust.

The possibility of a packing trust is being met by the Continental Packing company with extensive improvements in its plant. Heretofore the company has dealt only in hogs, but the killing of cattle will begin soon. The new branch of the plant will have a capacity of 1,000 cattle a day. Besides the beef department the company also is building a refinery which will have a capacity of 1,200 tierces of lard daily.

"We are increasing our plant materially, in spite of the rumors of a trust, said Supt. H. H. Boore yesterday. "We have received no application for an option on our two plants, and anticipate none. Our business always has been conducted independently, and doubtless will be continued in that way."

Organized in 1894, the capacity of the Continental plant has been steadily increased. It absorbed a plant in Bloomington, and the two concerns have been operated with a combined capacity of 8,500 hogs daily.

The arrival of Ferdinand Sulzberger of the "S. & S." firm from New York is expected to have some bearing on the packing combination. Hitherto "S. & S." have been classified as independents, an attitude which they may have abandoned.

Dorothea at South Haven.

South Haven, Mich., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The United States training ship Dorothea arrived at 4 p. m. in command of Lieutenant Commander J. C. P. Dekraft, with Capt. C. E. Fitch personally in charge of its crew of seventy-five boys. The Dorothea will cruise in and out of South Haven until Saturday night, when it will return to Chicago for the sham battle on Sunday at Lincoln park.

BAN ON BOY MESSENGERS.

I. D. T. COMPANY FORMALLY DECIDES ON GIRLS.

Crap Shooting and Penny Pitching, with Mania for Strikes, Proves the Undoing of the Precocious but Slow Lads—Young Women to Work Days and Men at Night — New Workers Are Drawn from the Ranks of Shop Girls.

The familiar messenger boy, so long identified with telegrams, is about to disappear, so far as the Western Union company is concerned. This was decided early yesterday by the officials of the company having the matter in charge. The latest strike of the boys, the third disturbance in a month, sealed their fate.

The I. D. T. company, which supplies the messengers for the Western Union, has hired 400 girls to take the strikers' places, and after a trial of nearly a week it is declared that their services are eminently satisfactory. The girls, or young women, for many of them have passed out of their teens, are to work in the downtown district and the residence portions of the city during the day. The night force will be made up of young men and not boys, and a number of men messengers will be kept on hand at all hours to carry telegrams into districts where a young woman might not care to go. The men will also be used in the district messenger service for carrying parcels and notes.

Craps Prove Their Undoing.

"Girls don't shoot craps or pitch pennies," is the reason given for the change. Furthermore, the officials of the I. D. T. say the girls make better time than the boys ever did. They have been recruited largely from the ranks of the employés of the department stores, and are said to prefer outdoor work with a chance to learn telegraphy to standing behind counters all day. They are being paid $1 a day by the telegraph company, and the manager says they earn it.

The girls declare they are not afraid of the strikers' pickets. Every girl has one or two hat pins, and at the first sign of trouble produces this distinctively feminine weapon. One girl, who gave her age as 17 years, had an encounter with a picket in Jackson boulevard yesterday afternoon. Although the boy was nearly her age she held him until a policeman appeared and arrested the lad.

Says Girls Will Succeed.

"Messenger girls have been used in other cities with success, and I believe they will solve the problem in Chicago," said Supt. Patterson of the I. D. T. "It was hard to hold the boys in line after their first strike. One messenger, a member of their executive committee, was sent out before the last strike to deliver a number of telegrams, all of which contained information of sickness or death. One was to a man who lives in a large hotel. He brought them all back marked 'unable to get any one.' We found he had not been two blocks from the office. He admitted to us that the boys were delaying business so that we would be forced to employ more help, and we made up our minds to employ girls."

UNIVERSITY CONGREGATION VOTES FOR SEGREGATION.

United Vote of All Organizations at Midway School Reverses Former Action and Decides on Separation.

President Harper and the friends of segregation at the University of Chicago scored once more against the opponents of the measure yesterday afternoon. The university congregation went on record as disapproving of its former vote against segregation, and by a vote of 41 to 23 expressed itself in favor of the separation of the men and women in the two years of junior college work.

The action of the congregation presents to the board the united vote of all the university bodies in favor of segregation. A member of the congregation said yesterday that the vote just taken better expresses the real sentiment of the congregation than that of June 16. At that meeting there was a small attendance, and many of the members had left the meeting before the vote upon segregation was taken. The session yesterday was unusually well attended, fully sixty-five being present.

While in the business of rescinding former actions, the congregation reversed its former vote upon the matter of the erection of buildings upon Marshall field. June 16 the congregation disapproved the recommendation of the board of medical affairs that a portion of Marshall field be set apart for certain medical laboratories. Yesterday it reversed its decision and assented to the proposition.

The recommendation of the board of medical affairs is that a strip of the field 110 feet wide, running along the south end of the field fronting upon Fifty-seventh street, be given up for the site of new laboratories.

GETS A PIN FROM PRINCE HENRY

Chief O'Neill Receives Gift from the City's Recent Guest on His Birthday.

Chief of Police O'Neill was presented with a stick pin by Acting Imperial German Consul Zoepffelz yesterday afternoon in pursuance of orders received from his government. The pin was given as a personal gift in recognition of the share which the chief had in the reception and entertainment of Prince Henry in Chicago. The pin consists of a large garnet with the letter H in the center and the figure of a crown placed above it. The tracing of the letter is studded with twenty-five small diamonds. The presentation was made on an appropriate occasion, as yesterday was the fifty-third anniversary of Chief O'Neill's birth.

TO TEST HIGH PRESSURE MAINS.

South Chicago Now Declared to Have Adequate Protection Against Fire.

The high pressure water system which has been installed in the business district of South Chicago will be tested this morning. With the fireboat Yosemite attached to one end of the high pressure mains it will be possible, it is expected, to send a stream of water 250 feet into the air. With this addition to the fire system it is declared that South Chicago will have adequate fire protection.

GRAIN SOLD ON WEATHER.

CLEAR SKIES WITH SOME HELP FROM CABLES BREAK THE PRICE.

Fair Quantities of September on Sale, Though Not as Large as the Day Before — Offerings Moderately Well Taken at the Decline — Talk of a Larger Movement Should Rains Hold Off a Week or So—A Little Cash Wheat Worked Here.

There was a downward tendency to wheat values again yesterday, the September losing 1c as compared with Wednesday, the December ¼@¾c, and the May ¼c. On the September the opening price was ½@¾c lower than the previous close, but on the December and the May the loss ran only from ¼@¾c.

Weather and weak cables were again the principal influences. Skies were bright in all directions, weather conditions being altogether favorable for thrashing operations and the crop movement, and quotations in both English and continental markets were quite decidedly lower. Liverpool opened ½d off and lost an additional ½d before the close. Paris was weak and 1⅛@2c lower. Berlin and Antwerp were also off. Altogether the cable showing was a bad one.

The domestic situation was not much better and the purely local tone was distinctly bearish.

Movement Still Restricted.

Figures would have favored the bull side had there been one. Receipts were considerably lighter here, there being but 239 cars on the inspection sheet, but of these only 2 cars were contract. Last Thursday the inspection was 306 cars. Slightly more wheat came into Minneapolis and Duluth reported 22 cars against nothing the day before, 7 last Thursday, and 183 the corresponding day last year. The total at the 3 points was 555 cars against 500 the previous week and 789 a year ago. Bartlett-Frazier had advices of a large movement in the Red River valley, and were at times quite heavy sellers on the strength thereof. The total at all primary points was 985,600 bu, against 1,242,600 bu a year ago. In the Minneapolis market there were 250 cars of new wheat, which was reported as grading better.

Weather Breaks Corn Prices.

The improved weather conditions were also more than corn futures could stand without easing off a little. On the September the loss as compared with Wednesday was 1½c, on the December ½c, and on the May ¼c. At the opening a little September sold at 57c, but there were almost simultaneous sales at 55½c. These transactions established the range for the day. Later the price picked up to 56⅝c, dropped to 56¼c, again recovered to 56½c, and closed at 56⅝c. From 41⅞c the December got up to 42¼c. The May showed only ¼c movement.

Liverpool was decidedly weak, quotations coming in ½@1¼d lower. Otherwise there was no significant local news. The selling which resulted in the general declines was based mainly on the better weather. A Toledo house reported freer acceptances by country holders, but not much improvement was noticed here. One house, however, reported getting 50,000 bu of old corn in Nebraska and the same quantity in Iowa for Chicago shipment.

In local inspection there were 29 cars, 1 of which was contract. Out inspection was 45,000 bu. Receipts at all primary points were 99,000 bu, compared with 141,000 bu a week ago and 445,000 bu last year. Shipments were 115,000 bu, as compared with 113,000 bu a year ago. New York reported 8 loads.

September Oats Bullish.

The effect of the persistent September buying by the cereal crowd of late was visible in the oats pit yesterday, when, in spite of the fine weather and weakness in other grains, the September delivery scored a good advance and the more distant futures fully held their own. September opened easy, first sales ranging at 32½@32¾, but soon firmed up to 33⅛c, and closed at 33⅝c, or ⅛c better than on the session previous. The advance was largely on covering by shorts. There was little September for sale, the offerings having been pretty well bailed out by the cereal people and those who wanted it were forced to bid up sharply.

Receipts were 263 cars, and only nine of them were standard and one No. 2 white. Estimated receipts for today are 320 cars. The cash market was still depressed by heavy offerings of low grades. Choice samples were in good demand. Sales of 20,000 bu were reported for export.

Liquidation in Provisions.

Liquidation caused a weak market for provisions and the whole list closed at a sharp decline. Some credited the selling to packers; others said it was for outsiders. The most pressure was in lard. It was a hard market to follow closely. Early there was some buying by brokers, particularly of October pork, but after the first half hour or so the demand was confined to shorts, who covered on the decline to secure profits. The selling was brought about by a decline of 5@10c in hogs and the bearish tendency of the corn market. Receipts of hogs west were 496,000, against 56,000 last year. Packing of hogs in the west for the week was 295,000, against 375,000 last year.

Rye was dull and closed weak. September sold from 50c off to 49¾c and closed at 49¼c sellers. December sold at 49¼c to 49c, closing at the latter price bid. Cash No. 2 sold by sample at 50¼@51¼c and No. 3 at 48½@50c.

Barley was steady and quiet. Offerings small. Sales by sample ranged at 40@58c for low grade to good. Choice quoted at 62c.

Timothy seed was not active and prices showed slight change. August delivery, $4.40; September sold at $4.17½, closing at $4.15 sellers. October, $3.85 bid and $3.95 sellers. Cash seed sold at $3.50@4.00 for good to choice.

Flaxseed was dull and there was a general lowering of prices. September sold at $1.35 off to $1.32½, and October at $1.29. Cash No. 1 northwestern was nominally $1.45 and No. 1 regular salable at $1.41. Receipts here were 24 cars and in the northwest 30 cars.

Trade Gossip on 'Change.

Estimated receipts today: Wheat, 275 cars; corn, 50 cars; oats, 320 cars; hogs, 21,000.

The Price Current says: "Weather conditions the last week were fairly favorable for growing crop for corn, and prospects have been fully maintained in Kansas and Missouri. The late corn received the needed rains, assuring immense crops in those states. Spring wheat thrashing is progressing more favorably than last week, although there were interferences by showers early in the week in some sections. Delays by rains have made harvesting and the thrashing a little late, but movement of wheat to market is expected to increase decidedly by next week. Winter wheat movement is normal, while receipts continue to grade low."

Harris-Gates' representative, traveling through Illinois, sends in the following reports: Grundy county—With favorable weather corn will be out of the way of frost by Sept. 20. Half million old corn to market. Livingstone county—Corn backward—four weeks to mature; prospects only fair; 1,000,000 bu of old corn to move. New oats beginning to move freely. McLean county—One-third of the corn in vicinity of Bloomington will be safe in two weeks; balance in three weeks. Weather now clear and pleasant. La Salle county—Weather favorable. New corn out of danger in three weeks; 2,000,000 bu old corn in the county.

NEW BANK FOR CHICAGO.

CHARTER FOR IMPERIAL NATIONAL WITH $1,000,000 CAPITAL.

J. B. Mallers and W. W. Bell Promoters of the New Institution — Masonic Fraternity Temple Association Finances Will Not Stand Another $26,770 on Tax Account Without Endangering Dividends — Boxboard Pooling Committee Issues Circular.

Chicago will have another new bank. Application has been granted at Washington for a charter for the Imperial National bank of Chicago. Those signing the application are J. B. Mallers, owner of the Mallers building; Jonathan Merriam, pension agent; E. Burnham, hair goods merchant of State street; W. W. Bell, C. B. Stafford, attorney.

The institution will, it is proposed, have a capital of $1,000,000. The stock will be disposed of at par, there being no intention of paying in a surplus. About two-thirds of the capital has been subscribed. No location has as yet been secured, and it has not been determined even approximately the date when the institution will open for business.

The bank is being promoted by W. W. Bell, who was the first cashier of the National Bank of the Republic. J. B. Mallers is understood to be the most heavily interested financially in the new concern. He was the first president of the National Bank of the Republic. However, he and Mr. Bell remained only a few months with the institution.

It is presumed that if the organization of the Imperial be concluded, Mr. Mallers will be president and Mr. Bell vice president or cashier.

Masonic Temple Finances.

Considerable financial interest to the stockholders of Masonic Fraternity Temple association attaches to the possibility of the association having to pay out of its treasury another $26,770, representing taxes for 1901. According to the annual report of the association there is reason to doubt if the dividend rate could be maintained without borrowing money if $26,770 is again to be disbursed.

The surplus of the association at the end of the last fiscal year, April 30, 1902, was $14,611. In the last two fiscal years the surplus has grown at the rate of approximately $6,000 per annum. For the current year, therefore, the surplus should approximate $20,000.

July 1 the association refunded $1,500,000 5 per cent bonds with an issue of $1,500,000 4 per cent bonds. The old bonds were called, however, at a premium of 2½ per cent, which would represent a disbursement of $37,500. Omitting commission and expenses in floating the new issue, and leaving the cost thereof at the premium named, it works out that the association should for the current year, if the amount of 1901 taxes be again disbursed, show a deficit of $29,000. While the 4 per cent bonds effect a saving in interest of $15,000 per annum, this is offset for two and one-half years by the premium paid to retire the old issue.

On the theory that the association be called on to make a second time the disbursement mentioned on tax account, the following indicates how the deficit would stand, based on the figures of the last annual report:

Tax payment	$26,770
Premium on bonds	37,500
Total increased expenditure	$64,270
Deduct:
Saving in interest	$15,000
Surplus 1902 (estimated)	20,000 35,000
Apparent deficit	$29,270

There were further sales yesterday of Masonic Fraternity Temple association stock. The price was at 54, being two points below the previous day's quotation. The last sale, prior to the sales of yesterday and the day before, was on April 12, 1901. On that date seventeen shares sold at 57½.

Anxious for Board Pool.

Holders of the $6,000,000 capital stock of the American Strawboard company will doubtless be greatly interested in a circular issued yesterday by members of the pooling committee of the Boxboard and Paper company. It is issued by S. H. Emery Jr. and L. A. Wiley. The pertinent paragraphs follow:

"The market price of United Boxboard and Paper company stocks on the Chicago exchange, where both the preferred and common issues are traded in on the unlisted list, is much lower than their intrinsic value. This is due to several causes, among which are prominent: The low price of American Strawboard company stock since the panic of 1893, the ignorance of the general public as to the greatly improved conditions of the boxboard industry, and the premature treading before the earning capacity of the new company has had time to develop or any support could be given to the stocks.

"This market price is, of course, unsatisfactory to the stockholders, who have accepted these stocks at par in exchange for their properties, and in order that the legitimate value of the stocks may be recognized as speedily as possible a committee, including some of the largest stockholders of the company, has been appointed, who will conserve the interest of all the stockholders by arranging to withhold from the market a large majority of the shares for the period of a year, believing that within that period the record of the company as to its management and earnings will be such that both the preferred and common stocks will readily command their legitimate value.

"When you consider that the preferred stock of the United Boxboard and Paper company is limited absolutely to the cash value of the properties acquired as appraised by three competent and entirely disinterested appraisers, with the assistance of a corps of experts who verified every detail of the vendors' valuations, and the cash paid in for working capital, with the addition of 3 per cent only for expenses of promotion, and that within three months it will be demonstrated that the company is earning 7 per cent on the preferred stock, with a considerable surplus to apply on the common stock, it is certainly apparent that the company has been organized on the most conservative lines possible for an industrial corporation, and that only a little patience is required to advance the market value of your stock to its intrinsic value. This patience can only be secured by concerted action; hence the appointment of the committee as stated.

"The undersigned have been appointed to represent on the committee above referred to the stockholders of the United Boxboard and Paper company, who were formerly stockholders of the American Strawboard company. We inclose a copy of an agreement which is being submitted to all stockholders of the United Boxboard and Paper company, and we ask you to cooperate in the plan, believing fully that it will be greatly to your interest to do so, and that if a sufficient amount of the stock is deposited under this agreement the market prices will advance speedily to the minimum prices named therein."

To List Rock Island Stock.

It is announced from New York that early next week application will be made to the New York stock exchange to list the Central Trust company's certificates which have been issued for old Rock Island stock.

Chicago Stocks.

Swift & Co. stock was the feature of the local exchange. The fluctuations were wide, based on a rumor that there was a hitch in the packers' deal. It is the same old story of people dabbling in the stock without knowing exactly what they are doing.

American Can shares were active and the preferred firm. Present prices are generally regarded as reasonable for the stock.

Boxboard shares were inclined to be weak. The deal has been one of so much uncertainty that the shares have not looked attractive to the average commission house.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

General Tendency of Cash, Bonds, and Other Securities in London, Paris, and Berlin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram says:

"Business on the stock exchange today was restricted but firm. Consols dropped to 94 7-16 and then rallied to 94 11-16. Americans were narrow, with a tendency to seesaw. They opened heavy on the cut in the Reading railroad dividend. The old scandals in connection with the road were recalled, and the market sagged in consequence, until the afternoon, when it rallied on New York support and the report that the United States government intended to buy more bonds. The close was easy. Canadian Pacific was buoyant, going to 145 on repayment of land grant bonds."

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Money was in active demand today for the settlement and the resources were depleted owing to withdrawals by the banks for month end requirements. Discounts were firm. Closing stocks:

Final clearance men's negligee shirts, 75c

Never before in the history of the shirt business were good shirts being sold at such a low figure as we place on our high-grade shirts for this great clearing sale.

The season has been cool and backward, and it has left us with lots of good stylish shirts many houses would carry over into next year, but we don't do business in that way.

We prefer to give you the benefit of the greatest values ever quoted in the shirt line. It's a splendid chance to add a shirt or two to your wardrobe for late summer. Many men who don't need them now will buy for another summer, for there won't be any sweeping transformation in shirt styles the next twelve months.
